Dear Sue,
I'm so terribly glad that we became such good friends. You are truly one of sweetest girls I've ever met. If you ever need anything, or if there's anything I can do to help you - please be sure + let me know. I'm going to come + see you this summer, I mean when you go to K.C. Please stay as sweet + darling as you are. Bye now.

God Bless you.
Diana

Sue -
You're a real doll.
It's been great knowing you. Never forget all the great times in English with good ole Miss Kirk -
Good luck in what ever you do -
Love,
Kathy

ACADEMICS

To the Students of Valley High School:

A new Valley High School Senior Class is graduating and passing another big milestone. The students of Valley High School continue to grow in academic stature and performance in extra-curricular activities. It is with extreme pride that parents, faculty, and citizens of our community observe continued progress on the part of our young people.

A very special commendation to our graduating seniors is in order. It is our sincere hope that you have been taking advantage of every opportunity, preparing yourself adequately, and that you are prepared to take your place in a competitive society. High school students must take advantage of every opportunity available in school because today's standards require so much more than formerly. May the best of everything come your way—especially success and happiness.

Charles C. Joss, Superintendent

Administrators Determine

Principal Norman Pogemiller (left) confers with Vice Principal Sherwin Sankey on plans for the new high school.

The 1965-66 school year saw Valley High School become a three grade high school. This change was evident in the attitude and ambitions of the student body. The changes in the curriculum and extra-curricular activities provided an excellent opportunity for each student to pursue the interests of his choosing. Valley High will continue to offer the best in curricular offerings and educational opportunities for its students.

Norman Pogemiller

We are, at Valley High School, a group assembled for the purpose of learning. Our activities should be directed towards one ultimate goal: the growth of wisdom. Wisdom, of course, means more than knowledge: it involves the ability to make use of knowledge as well. It includes the ability to judge soundly, and the competence to choose between right and wrong. In Valley High School we prepare to make our contribution to human advancement: in such an environment we grow in wisdom.

Sherwin Sankey

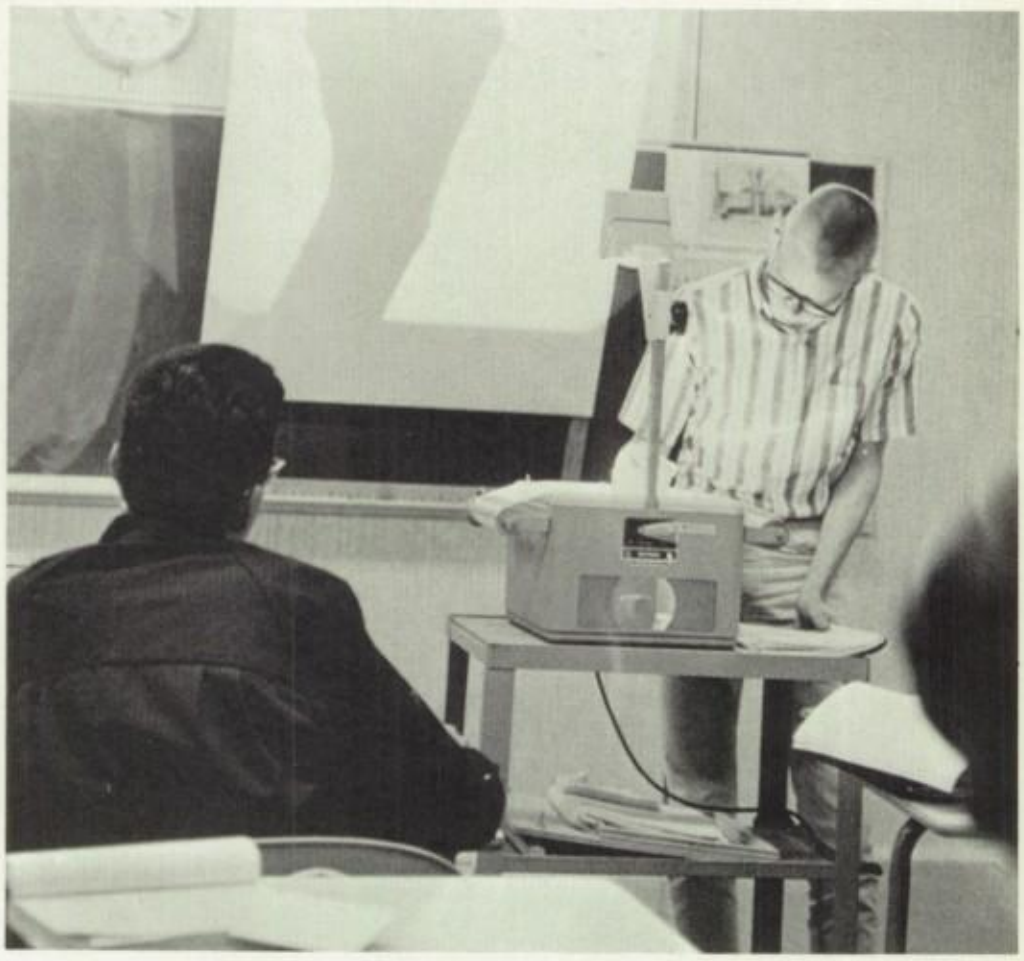
Math Requires

Marshall Torgerson
B.A., State College of Iowa
Geometry

At Valley math students are instructed in both the "how" and the "why" of math functions. The objectives of the general mathematical problems of everyday life, and to improve their background for more advanced math courses. Beginning algebra classes learn new ways to solve problems and thus discover new math processes.



Bob Overhulser uses the overhead projector to explain a geometry problem.

Carol Frazier, Linda Grandquist, and Bill Howard show mixed emotions in anticipation of a geometry test.

Larry T. Bock
B.A., State College of Iowa
Geometry, Algebra 3 & 4

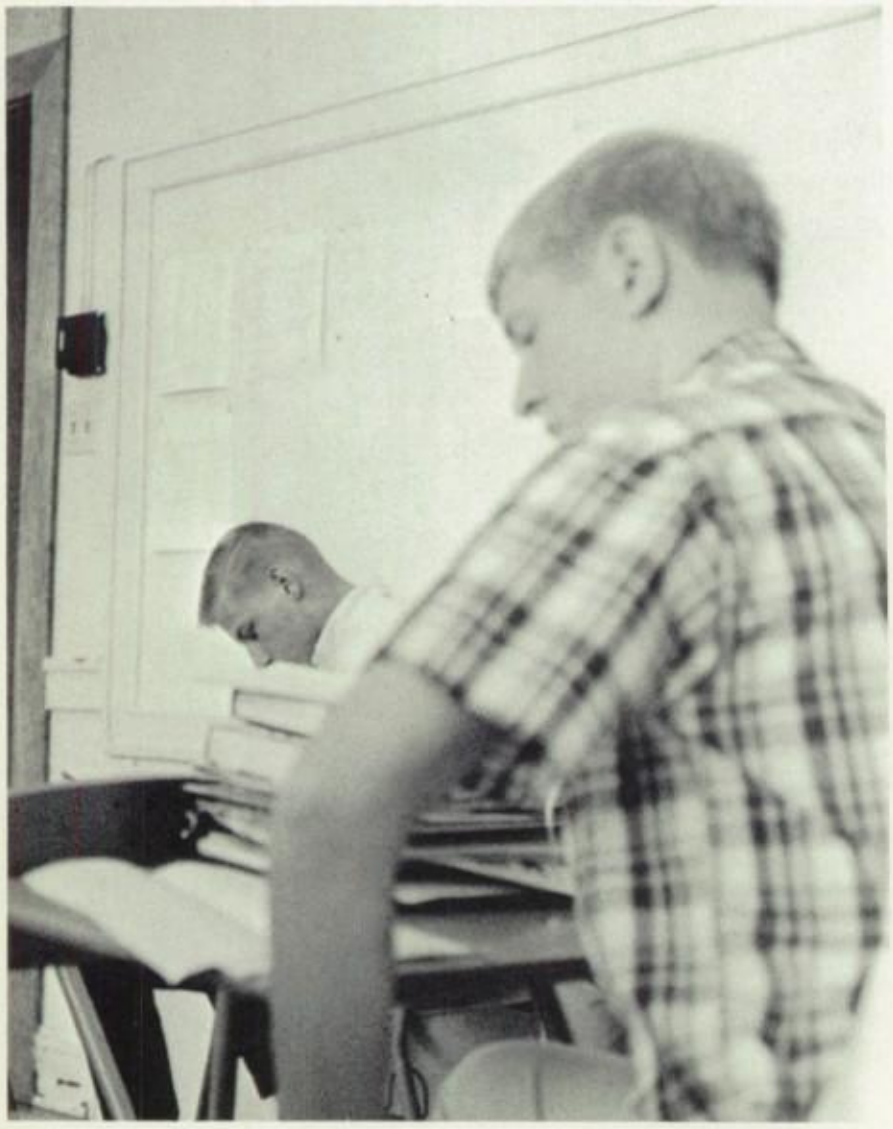
Logical Thinking

Bob N. Cage
M.S.E., Drake University
Algebra 3 & 4, College Math

Kathy LaGrave waits her turn to confer with Mr. Bock.

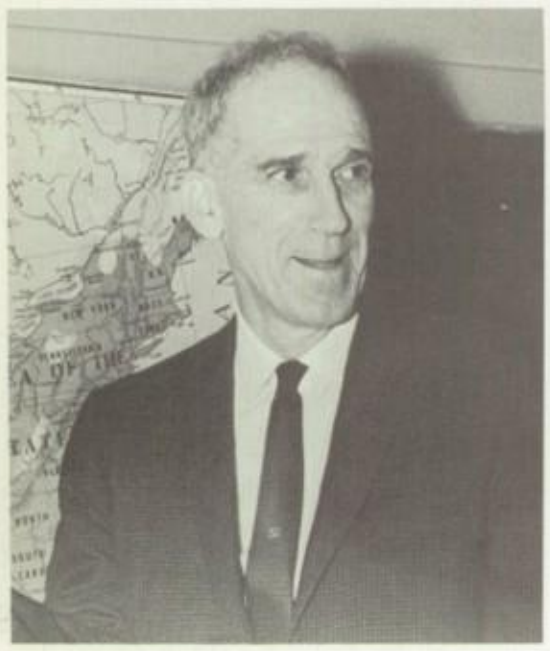
The study of geometry develops deductive reasoning and logical thinking processes, and an understanding of the structure of mathematics. In advanced algebra and trigonometry classes the students continue their study of the algebraic concepts and skills learned previously. College mathematics prepares the student for the more advanced courses he will encounter in college. Students review algebra, trigonometry, and solid geometry, and study calculus and statistics.

Study time in Mr. Cage's room.



Steve Richards seems to wonder why Pythagoras was born.

Janet Conner
B.S., Northwestern University
Sociology



Robert B. Flick
B.A., Amherst College
U. S. History

Charles J. Neubauer
B.S.E., Northeast Missouri State
World Community

The field of social science offers a varied study of man at present and throughout history. United States History classes emphasize the understanding and appreciation of our American heritage. Classes study techniques of voting and the various parts of the Constitution.

The World Community course is a geographicla and historical survey of modern countries of the world. Students examine current political and economic problems. Interest is stimulated through the study of place geography and map work.

John Knox and Sue Shultice take notes on modern social problems in sociology.

Social Science ----

Mr. Neubauer and his world community class conclude the hour with discussion.

State representative Clark Rasmussen speaks on the functions of the state legislature in a modern problems class.

Man in His World

Sue Anderson sits back and listens while Dana Jackson examines a legislative pamphlet in modern problems.

Sociology deals with man's relationships to others in society. Students gain definite knowledge of social problems and scientific ways of studying them. Discussions are held concerning cultural heritage, crime and delinquency, mental health, and marriage preparation. Students are also introduced to the science and art of human relations.

Modern Problems classes devote one semester to the study of American government and the other to problems facing democracy. The course is highlighted by debates, a study of the newspaper, and the purchase of stock, all of which help the student to understand the working of democracy. Each class elects a representative to observe the meetings of the West Des Moines city council.

Science For

Tom E. Karpan
M.E., University of Southern California
Biology

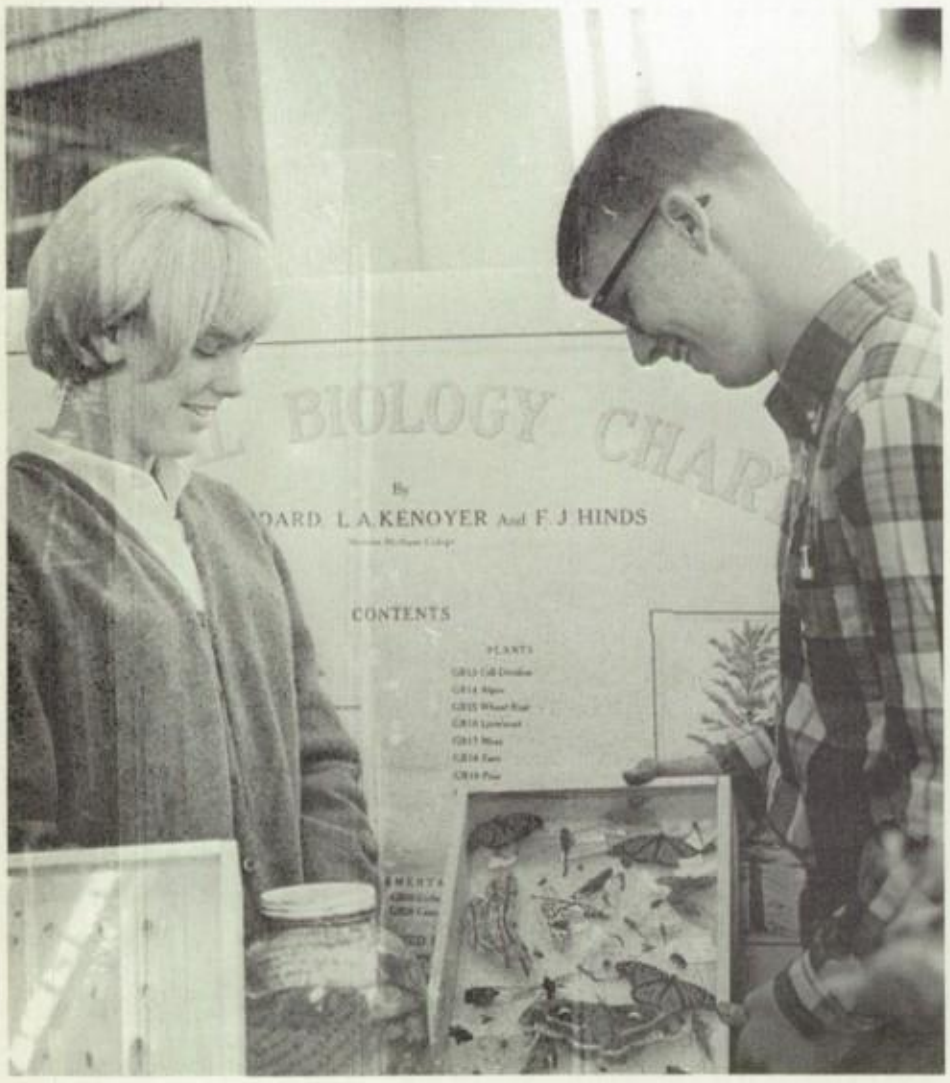
Drip, drip, drip . . . Kathy Sheperd and Ruth Ann Flanagan carefully estimate the amount of water in a graduated cylinder.

As our civilization becomes more complex, science classes at Valley strive to understand its importance in our daily living. Valley's science department includes biology, chemistry, and physics.

Biology students pursue the study of life by dissecting frogs, drawing the human heart and skeleton, and making an insect collection. Biology teacher Mr. Karpan adds variety to the course by keeping an aquarium and plant germination box.

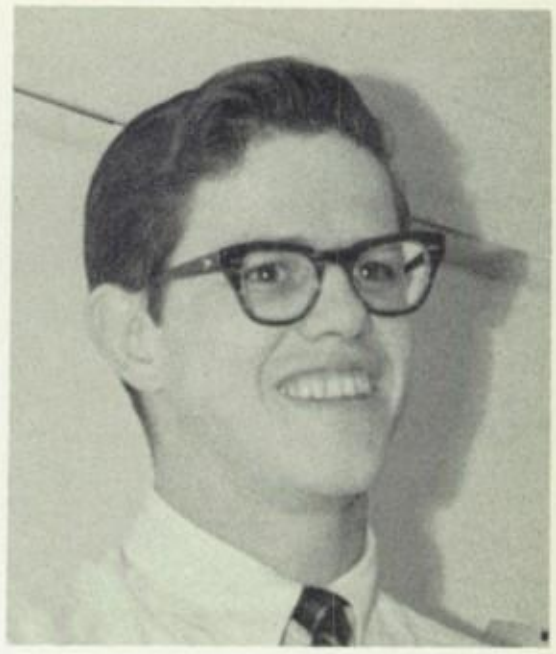
James P. Jensen
B.A., St. Olaf College
Chemistry

Brian Farrell displays his bug collection in biology class.



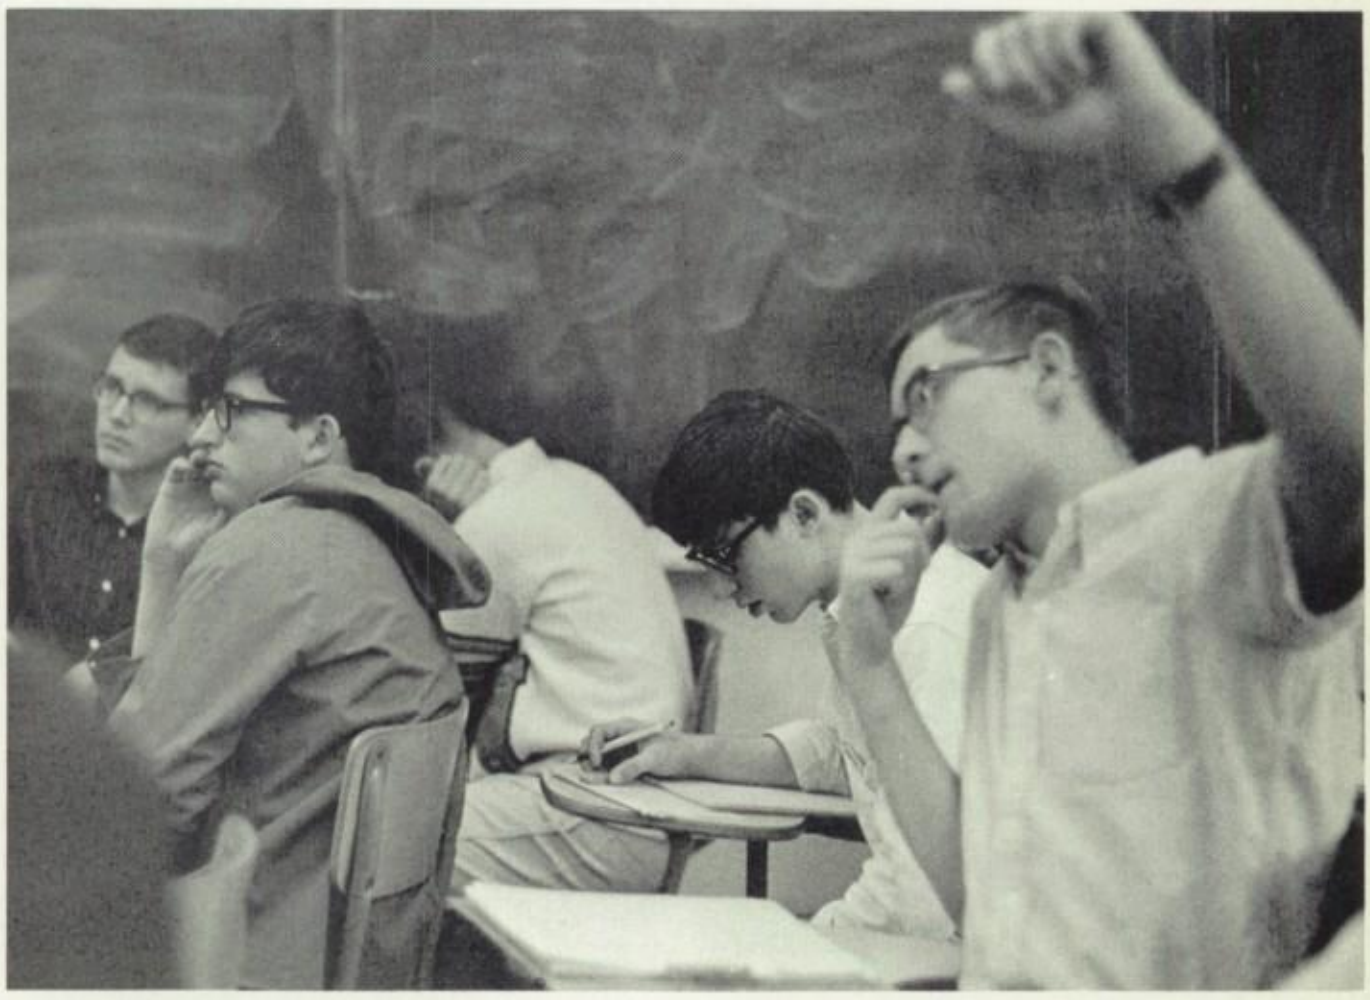
a Changing World

Steve Shelley records data as Cris Cook and Grant Rickert perform a physics experiment.



Steven K. Halstead
B.A., State College of Iowa
Physics, Algebra 1 & 2, 3 & 4

Valley's aspiring chemists endeavor to understand and develop scientific methods and attitudes. With the instruction of Mr. Jensen, students study matter and its various changes. Working in the laboratory enables the students to apply their knowledge to specific situations.

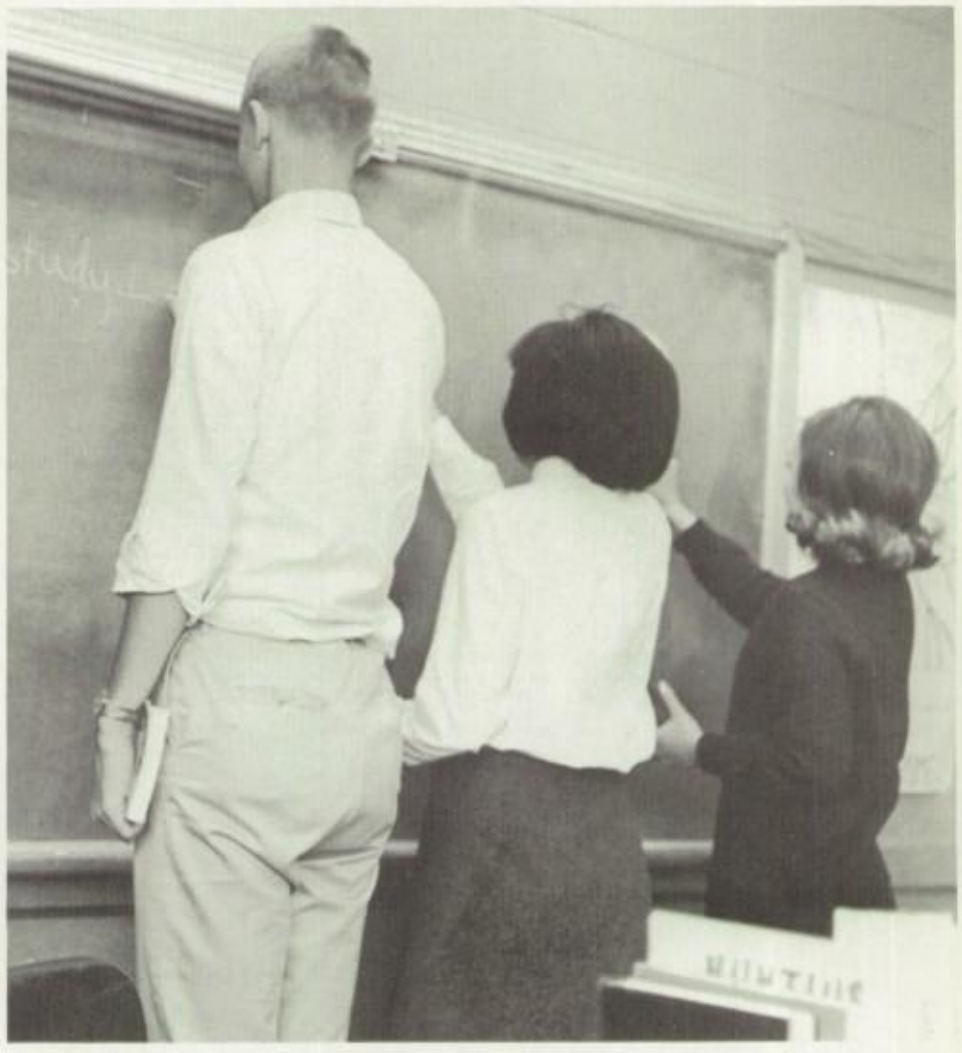


Kirk Patrick offers a solution while Chuck Miller, Bill Hulling, and Tim Frevert consider a physics problem.

Latina and Espanol

Margaretta D. Hockett
B.A., Central College
Latin 1 & 2, Latin 5 & 6

Although Latin is not a modern language, its study is well worthwile. Students learn an appreciation of Roman culture as well as grammar and structure. First year students with the help of Mrs. Hockett, learn the foundations of the language, highlighted with a vast background in mythology and a study of abbreviations, mottos, and Roman customs. During the second year, Miss Clayton and Mr. Tilp place emphasis on structure and derivations, and reading includes Hannibal and Caesar. With Mrs. Hockett, advanced students study Roman literature especially from the classical period, including such writers as Virgil and Ovid.



Third year students Dave Westphal, Barb Houck, and Debbie Denio, practice Latin techniques.

Kenneth J. Tilp
B.A., Loras College
Latin 3 & 4

Bill Bernard shows Cindy Waskers a Roman battering ramp.

Challenge VHS'ers

Mrs. Sprague uses the language lab for oral drill.

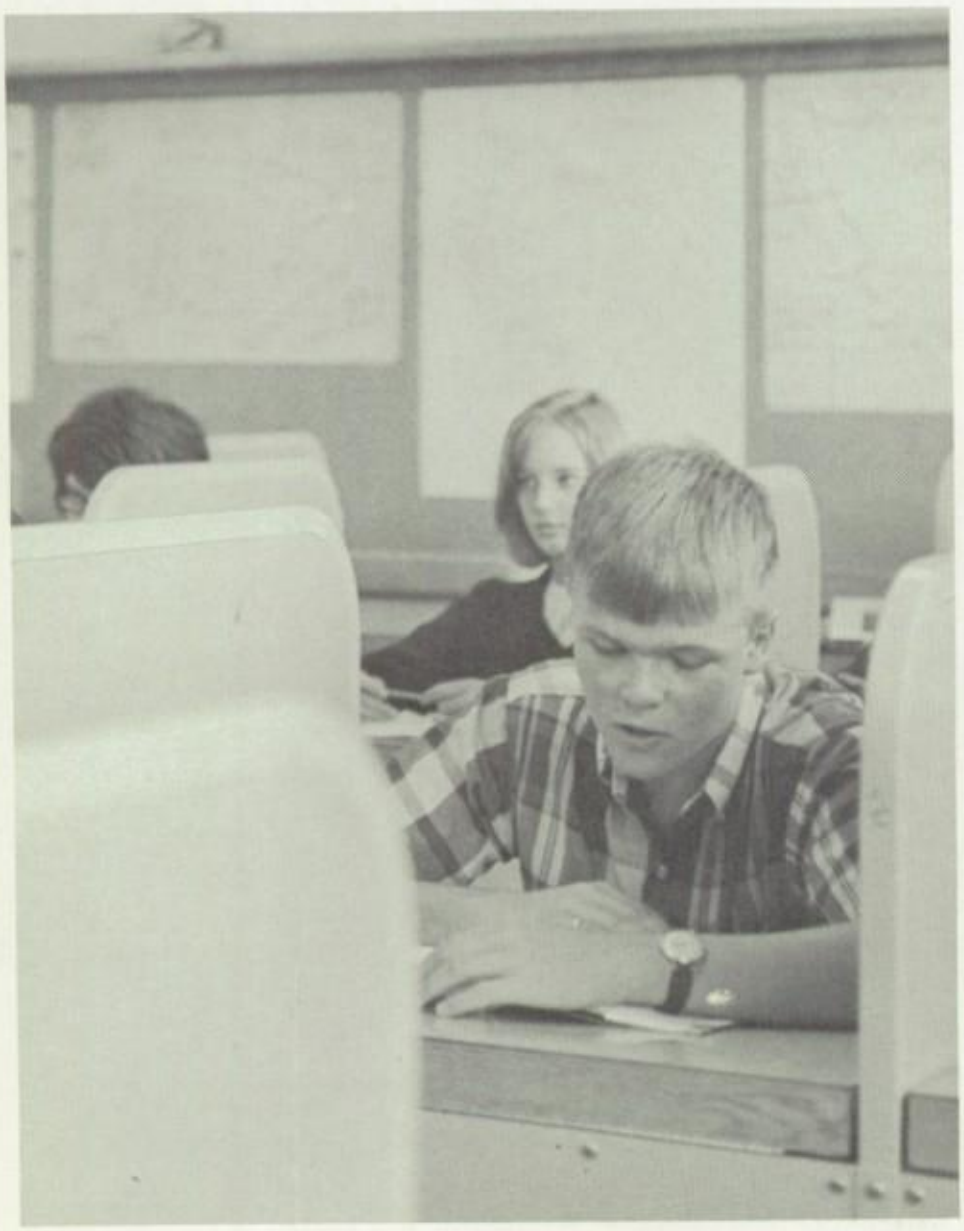
Adah Sprague
B.A., East Central State College of Oklahoma
Spanish 1 & 2, Spanish 5 & 6

Spanish students study the language of our Latin American neighbors and learn to speak and write a living foreign language. The first year course introduces the students to the language. An aid to their learning is the language laboratory where all students have an equal opportunity to hear, practice, and receive help. Mrs. Sprague assists students in attaining a mastery of the basic material.

In the second year course Miss Clayton emphasizes grammar and usage and greatly increased vocabulary.

During the third year the students continue to build their vocabulary through conversational practice and by studying Spanish literature.

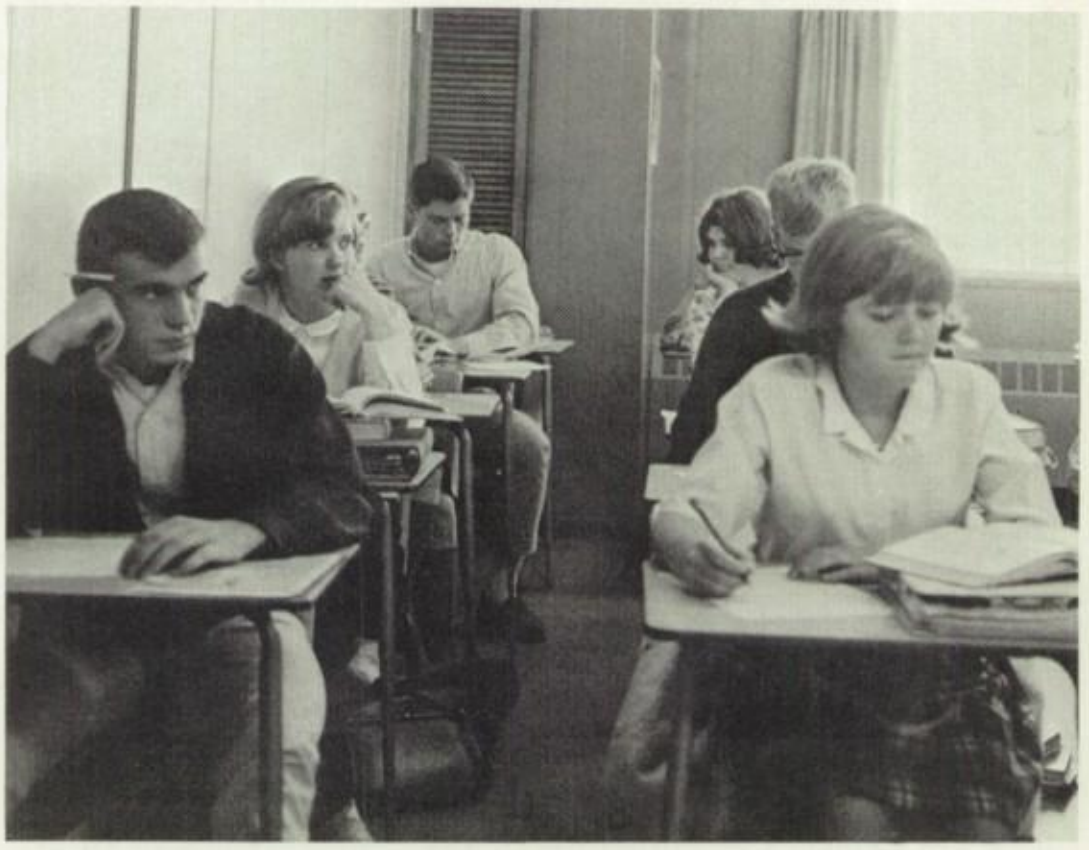
Rick Mills translates a Spanish story.



Ferne E. Clayton
M.S., Drake University
Spanish 3 & 4, Latin 3 & 4

Underclassmen Advance in

Marie Kartchner
B.A., State University of Iowa
English 3 & 4



Sophomores Lynn Maxfield, Pat Fowler, Karen Donovan, and Brian Stein struggle with in-class themes.

Louise Orlich
B.S., Drake University
English 3 & 4

The English department is definitely one of the most important at any high school for a student must have the ability to speak and write well in order to succeed in any endeavor.

The sophomore English course includes a review of spelling and grammar, composition writing, and the reading of short stories. Classes study the organization of themes and become aware of the significance of language and our responsibility of using it by speaking and writing.

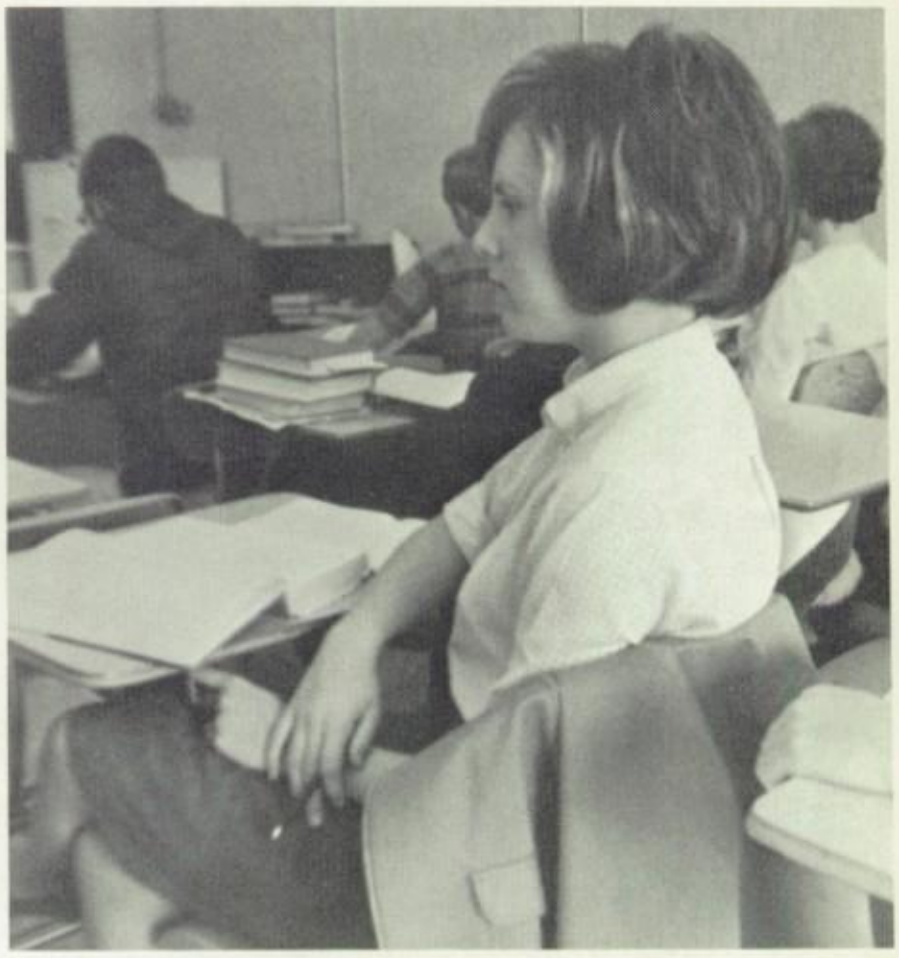
Carol Wargo
B.E., University of Toledo
English 3 & 4

Sophomore students prepare to discuss a literature assignment.

Study of Native Language

Mary Case
M.E., University of Nebraska
English 5 & 6

Juniors study American literature from colonial times to the present and develop an appreciation of American through the study of our literature. A knowledge of literary terms and figurative language is acquired and used in creative compositions. Listening and notetaking techniques are developed through lectures and classroom discussions.



Sue Kelsey—deep concentration or daydreaming?

Cris Ver Ploeg, Jim Van Dyke, Denny Merritt and Paula Underwood enjoy Miss Case's sense of humor.

James Daniel
B.S., Drake University

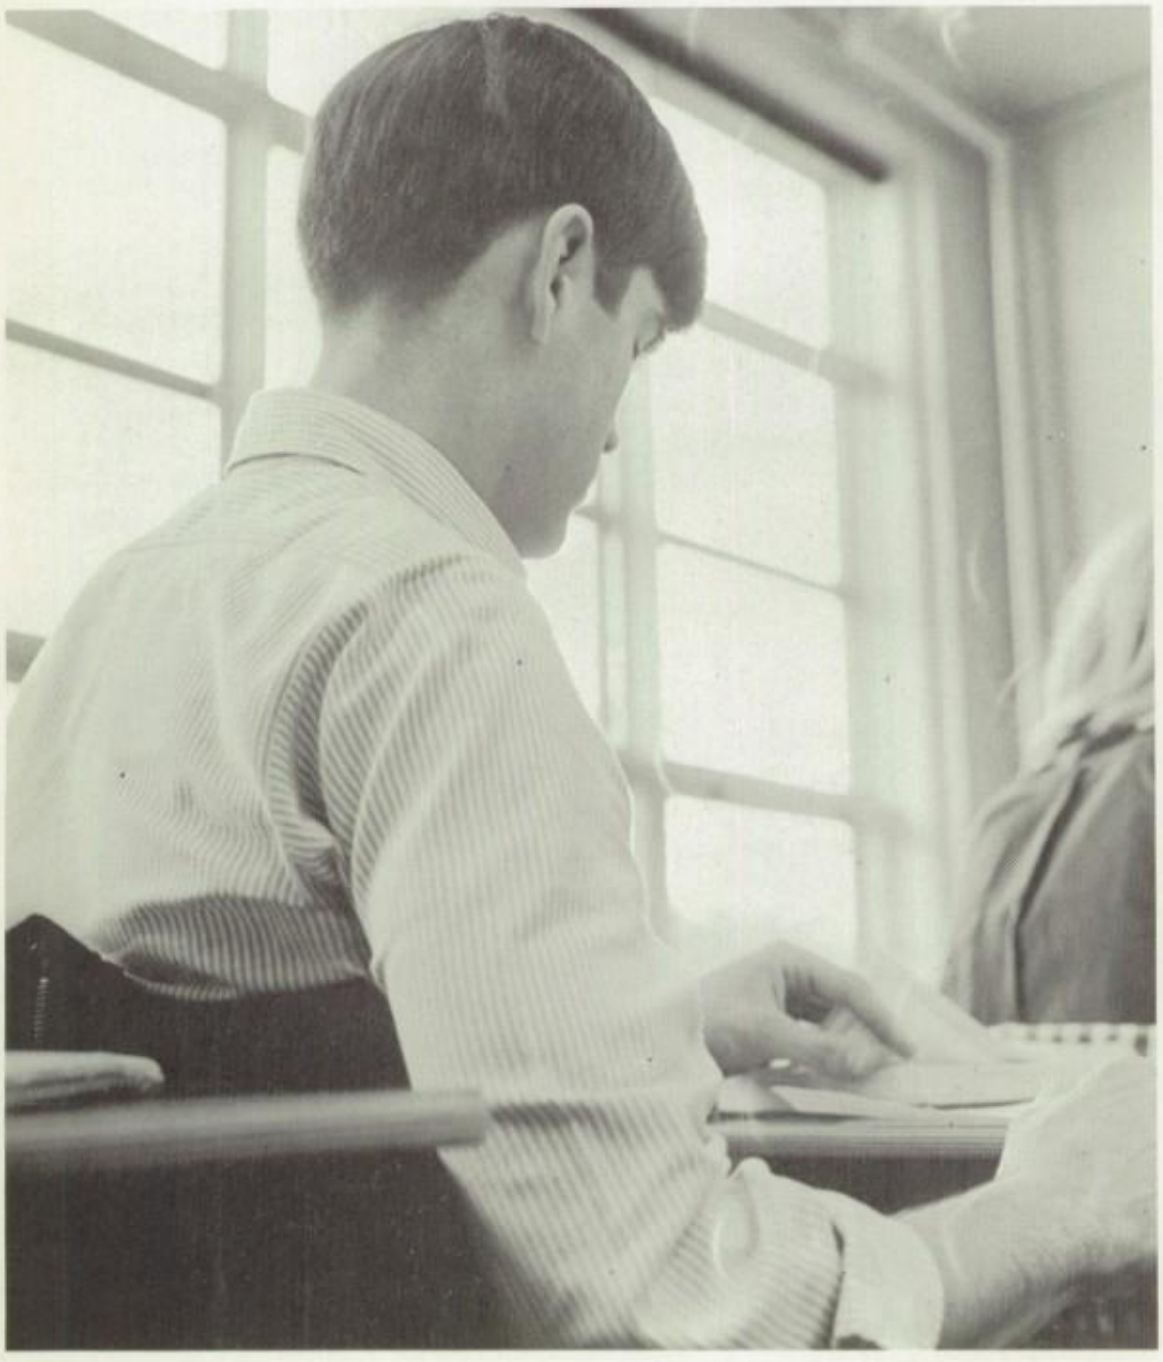
England's Literature Is Basis of Senior Study

Profile of a studious scholar, Mark Elstner.

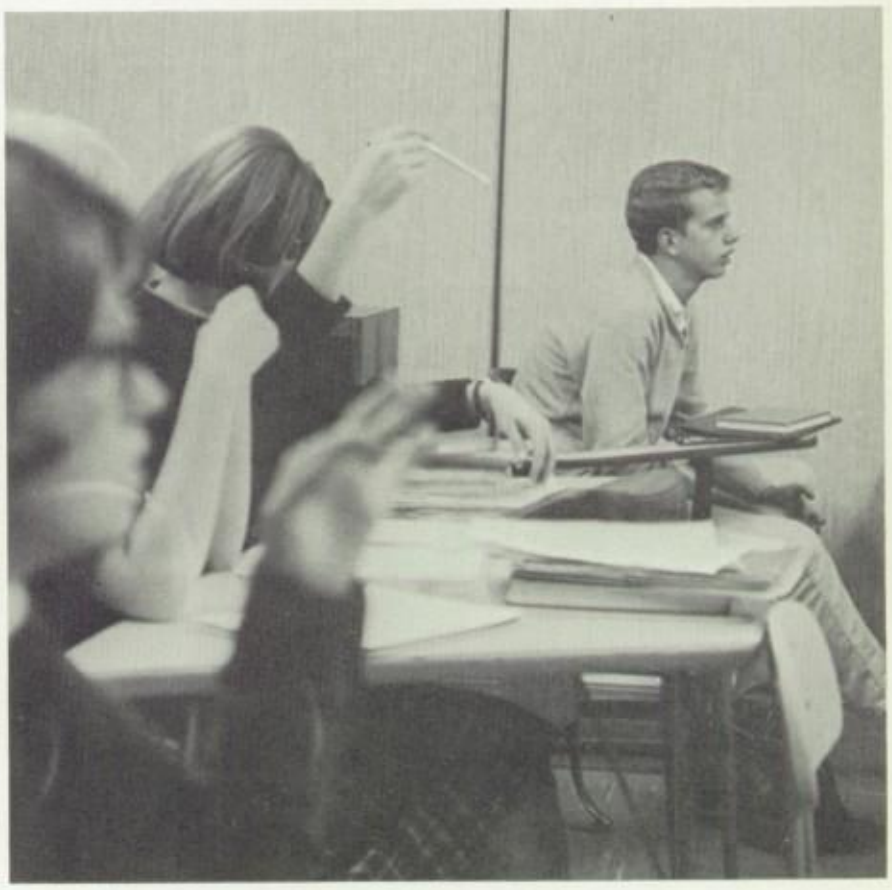


Senior English is an elective college preparatory course in which students acquire a background in English and World Literature and develop study habits and skills needed for college courses. They learn to recognize and read literature of merit and compare the works which they read. Included in the course is a study of Shakespeare, the traditional research paper, and individual and group projects.

Mary Lou Kirk
M.A., University of Iowa
English 7 & 8

Speech Develops Oral Skills

Mrs. Bonnie Douglass
B.A., State University of Iowa
Speech 1 & 2



Students offer constructive criticism at the conclusion of a speech.

"We of the affirmative . . . " states Sue Eide.

Valley's speech department includes not only speech but also dramatics and contest programs. Speech in the form of oral exercises is designed to eliminate inhibitions, stimulate the imagination, and to encourage better oral expression. Its aims are to develop leadership, logical reasoning, and better selection and use of reading materials through good speech. First year speech classes give demonstrations, interpretive readings, and contest speeches. Advanced classes concentrate on phonetics, parliamentary procedure, the history of drama, debate, and extemporaneous speaking.

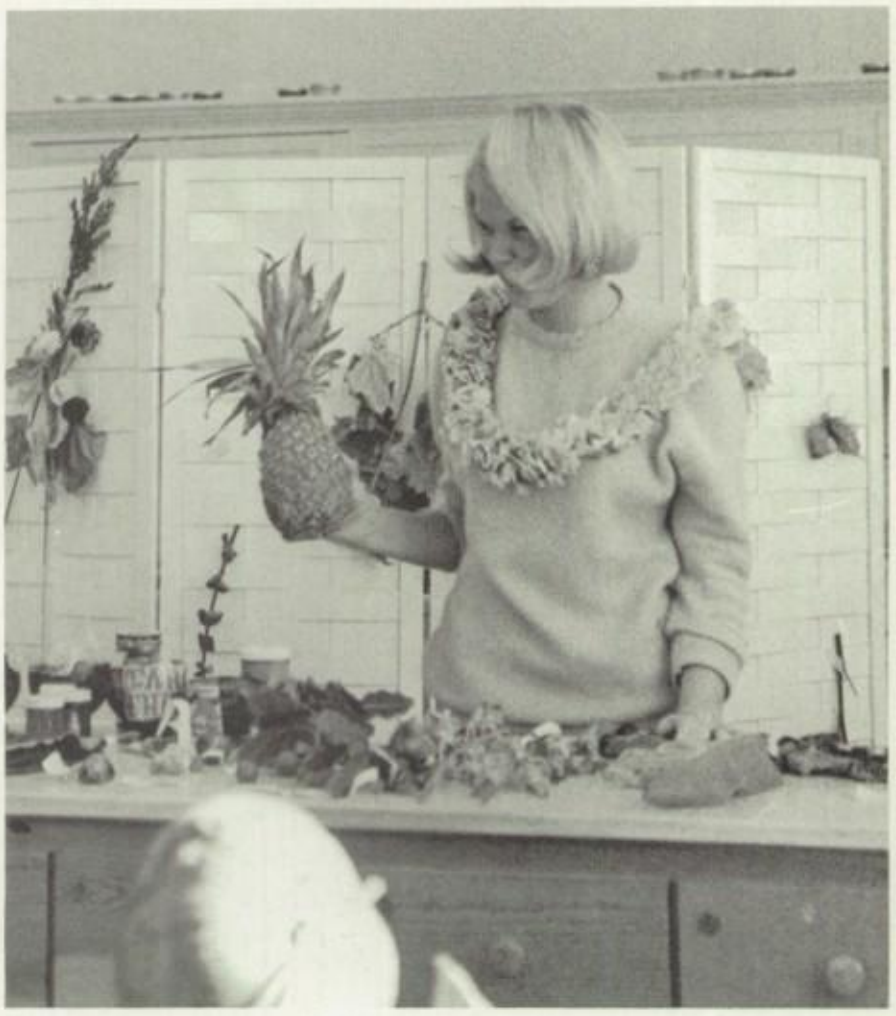
Janice Van Dyke
B.A., Hastings (Nebraska) College
Speech 1 & 2, 3 & 4

Home Ec for Modern Homemakers

Audrey Krengel
B.S., Stout State University of Wisconsin
Home Economics 1 & 2, 3 & 4

Home Economics offers a varied program striving to prepare girls for the future as modern homemakers. Emphasis is placed on sewing, cooking, and family living. The study is supplemented with a fall tea and a fashion show.

Begining classes study child care and development, family health, home nursing, and home furnishing, as well as cooking and sewing. Advanced classes spend the first semester tailoring and studying textiles. The second semester is devoted to family living, the study of child care, and marriage preparation.



Ann Von Gillern exhibits foods from Hawaii.

First year home ec students discuss the latest fashions.

Shop Students Learn Practical Skills

Larry L. Kinzie
B.S., McPherson College
Industrial Arts 1 & 2, 3 & 4

Jim Westphal and Ralph Wayne learn to run the engine lathe.

Industrial arts provides the opportunity for development of basic shop skills. Students learn to understand the problems of industry from the standpoint of both employer and employee. They work with a variety of materials including wood, metal and plastic. The advanced course offers an elementary study of electronics.

Jim Westphal completes the assembly of his valet.

Lyn Davis uses the shaper for a project.

Art Cultivates Creativity

It's clean-up time for Duwaine Wolf, Mike Bickford and Rosemary Hoehne.

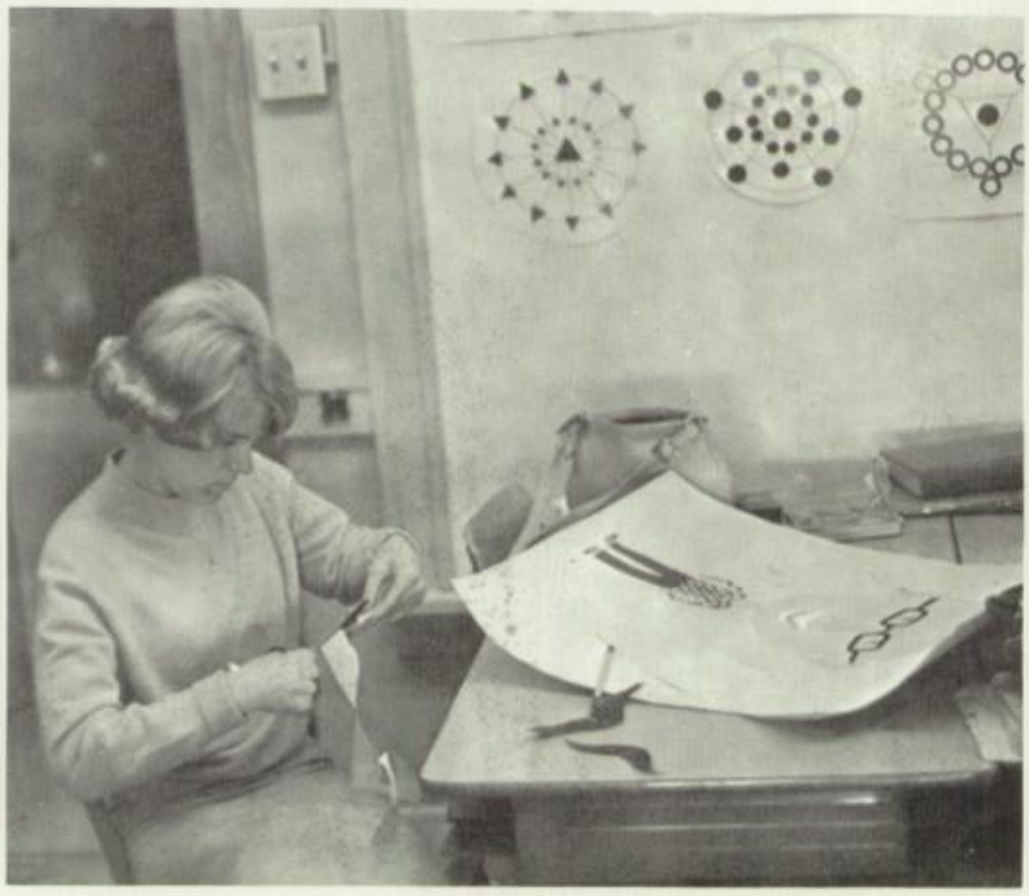
Marilyn Hein
B.S.E., Drake University
Art 1 & 2, 3 & 4

Beginning art classes emphasize both the fundamentals of design and basic design principals of unity, rhythm, variety and balance. Students strive to achieve further skills in pencil techniques, watercolor, pen and ink and charcoal.

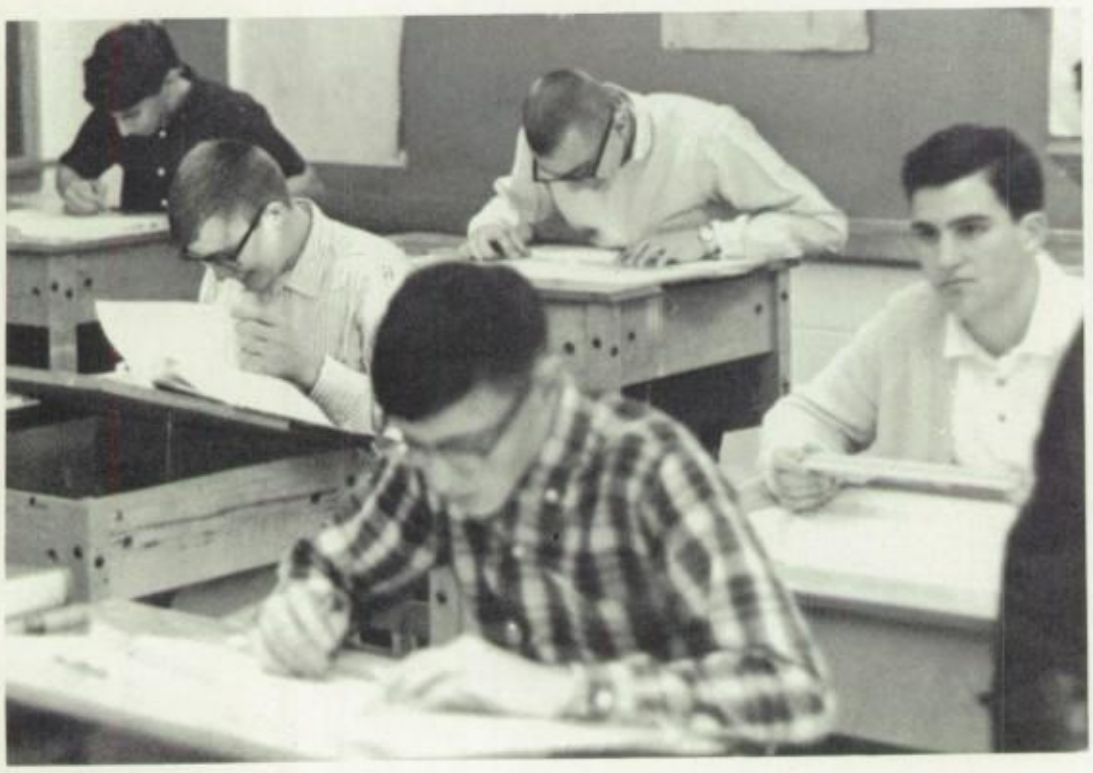
Advanced art students complete a wide variety of projects. These include creative lettering, layout and printmaking as well as jewelry, ceramics, woodcarving and interior design. Films and slides are also shown to further art appreciation. Third year students plan for a career in art by preparing scholarship and vocational portfolios.

Sherry Jenkins devises an intensity scale while Connie Grandstaff completes her color wheel.

Mary Sampson, is that really Mr. Kinney?



Drafting Provides Vocational Preparation



Dimensioning forms an important phase of mechanical drawing.

Charles Tabarella
M.A., Colorado State College
Drafting 1 & 2

Drafting is the language by which an engineer or architect may communicate his ideas to the skilled worker who transforms these ideas into consumer products. Drawing, entirely apart from its use in industry, is also useful to people in expressing their creative ideas. This course provides training in reading and interpreting sketches. Students learn an appreciation of industrial organization and the importance of mathematics as applied to drafting. Girls find the course very helpful as background for such fields as art and interior decorating.

Diana Gibson works on a three-view drawing.

Stuart Ross, Ralph Wayne and David Ricketts work diligently to complete a mechanical drawing assignment.

DE Teaches Business Procedures

Roderick Kent
B.S., Drake University
Business Law, Distributive Education

Distributive education enables students to have employment experiences before they actually enter the business world. Students learn job skills in retailing, marketing or distribution and in service areas. D.E. students participate in two morning classes of lecture, discussion and individual instruction. Highlights of the course include films on salesmanship and the use of a window display and sign-making machine. Many D.E. students include business courses in their schedules. Business English emphasizes letter writing and other business forms. Students taking business law study contracts, buying and selling, insurance, business organization and everyday situations. Business math students compute problems dealing with stocks and bonds, commission, trade discounts, percentage and check records.

Students Diane Hoyke, Barry Landolt, Mike Shelley and Sharon Williams arrange a Christmas display.

Business law students participate in a lecture and discussion period about legal contracts.

Louise Gordon, Ed Murillo and Bill Wagoner are busy making signs using the department's new machine.

Bookkeeping, Shorthand

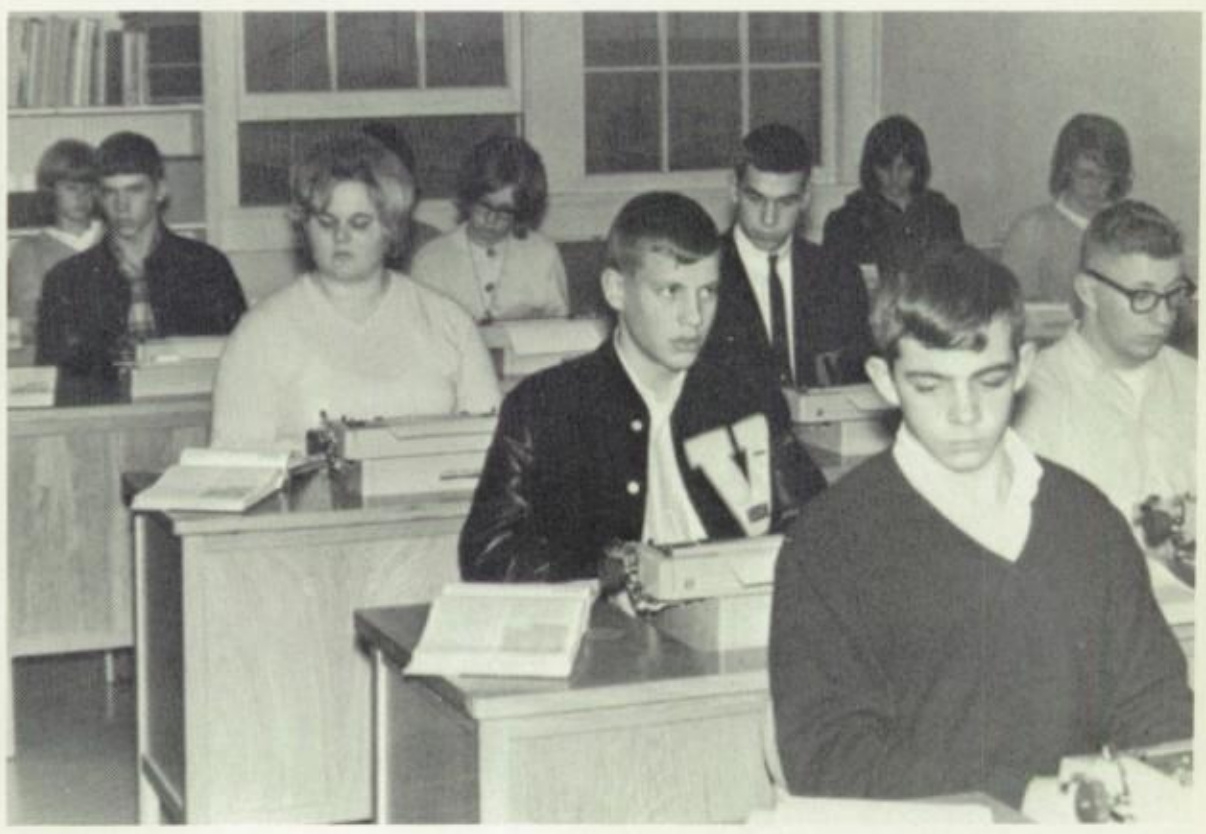
Margaret Dixon
B.A., Carleton College
Typing 1 & 2, Office Practice, Personal Typing

May Shurtleff
B.S., North Texas State University
Clerical practice, Typing 1 & 2

Valley offers several courses of study in developing secretarial skills. Beginning typing is a prerequisite to vocational business courses. Personal typing, a one semester course, is designed for students who wish to learn the fundamentals of typing for their own personal use. Secretarial training prepares students for stenographic positions in the business world as they study various office procedures. In the clerical office practice course, students learn the techniques of filing, typing business papers, and the use of adding, calculating and duplicating machines. Shorthand is necessary for those planning a secretarial career and the students develop dictation skills. Bookkeeping students learn to keep systemic records, an important aspect of any business.

Sandy Kirkman concentrates on completing a bookkeeping assignment.

Typing students get ready for a timed writing.



Library Serves As Resource Center

David D. Sampel
B.A., Drake University
Study Hall

The last few minutes of study hall is the perfect time to purchase an annual. Bob Popple fills out a receipt for Debbie Estell.

What is the most important thing to learn in high school? Facts, dates and equations are certainly valuable, but the thing most needed in the future is the ability to think, formulate ideas and know how and where to find the answers to questions encountered. To provide a chance for each student as an individual to seek out new ideas and answers, Valley's school library is providing more new services and facilities each day. Librarian Mr. Esbeck, his assistant Miss Harmon and a staff of capable students offer the faculty and students a variety of materials arranged in an attractive setting. The library is a convenient place where books and materials are available to all students for research or for informal reading.

Scheduled study halls enable students to complete some of their assignments during school hours. These study sessions are held in the library and in the North Building.

Everlue Heard browses through Valley's growing library.

Librarians Miss Harmon and Mr. Esbeck assist students in finding materials they need and add new publications to keep the library up-to-date.

PE Encourages

Today's citizen should be educated physically as well as mentally in order to meet the demands of a modern world. Physical education stresses the importance of fitness and the ability to do work daily and meet emergencies. Girls acquire a knowledge of various sports, the use and care of sporting equipment and safety precautions. They learn sportsmanship and team work through activities such as volleyball, badminton, archery, trampoline and basketball.

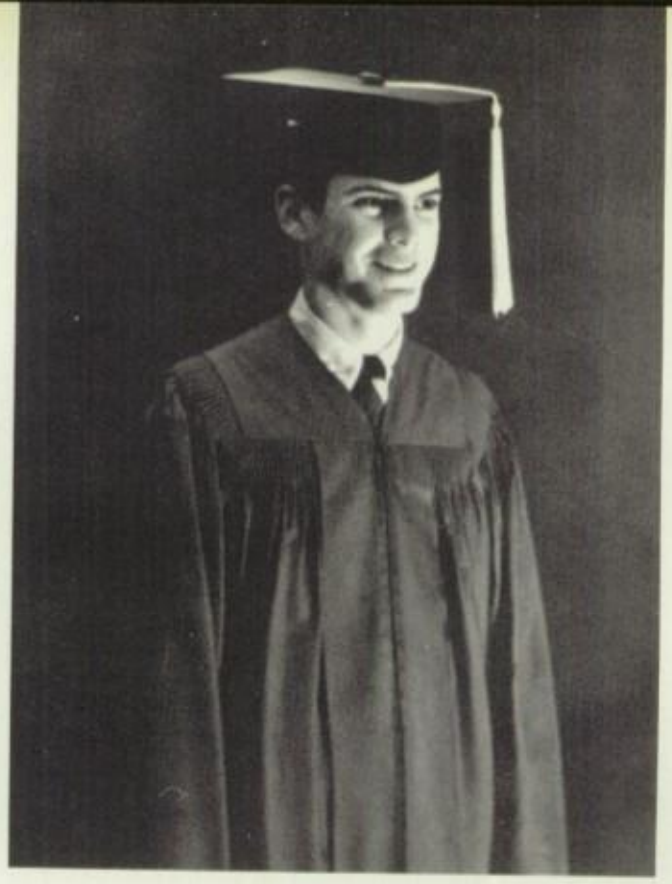
" Class of 64"

SENIORS

Ruth Ann Flanagan was junior class treasurer, a member of a variety of clubs and held offices in both AFS and FTA. She was also first in her class academically. Ruth Ann represented Valley in Japan in the summer of 1965 under the AFS program.

Kirk Patrick, student body president, participated in basketball, golf, Student Council, Latin Club, Key Club and Rocket Club. He was a page in the Iowa General Assembly. Kirk was also a regular name on the honor roll.

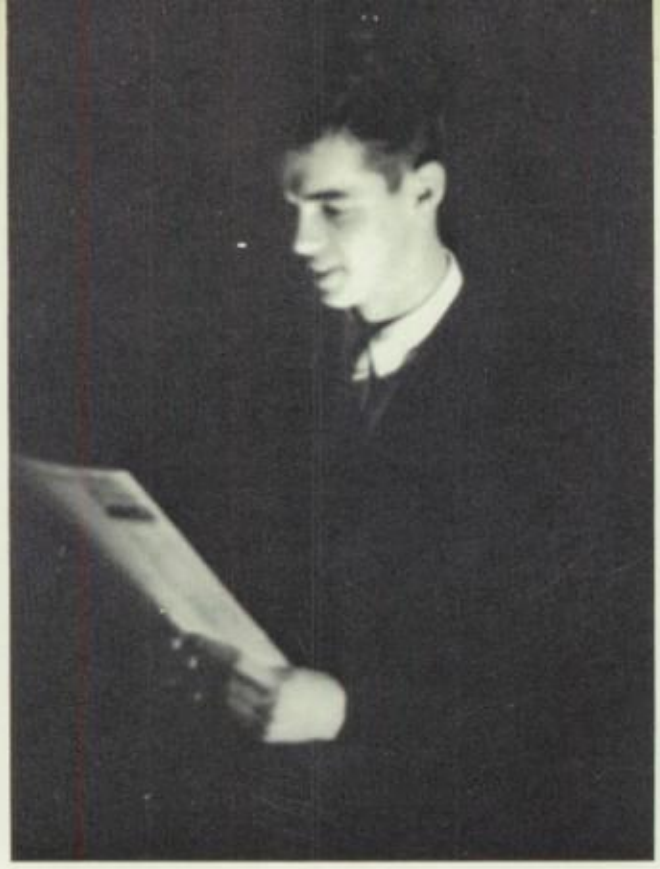


Mark Elstner, senior class president, participated in football and basketball. He was a member of Student Council, TAC, many chorus groups and Younker's boys' advisory board. Mark was also a consistent member of the honor roll.

Seniors Honor Ten

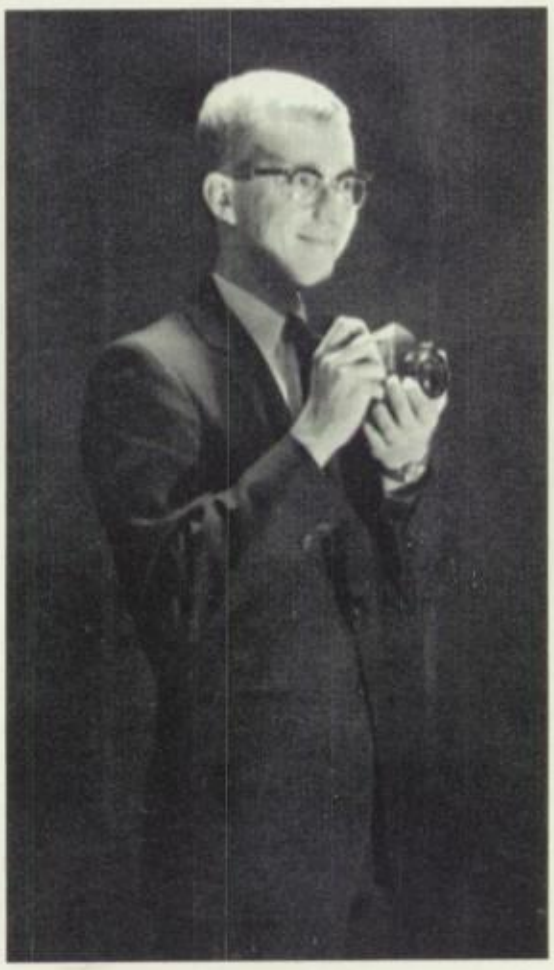
Steve Shelley has lettered in track, wrestling and football. He was a member of the All-conference football team. Steve was also an officer in Hi-Y and TAC and was sports editor on the annual staff.

Nancy Nutt participated in golf, AFS, FHA, TAC, band auxiliary and FTA. Nancy was regularly named to the honor roll. She was also Editor-in-chief of the 1966 annual.



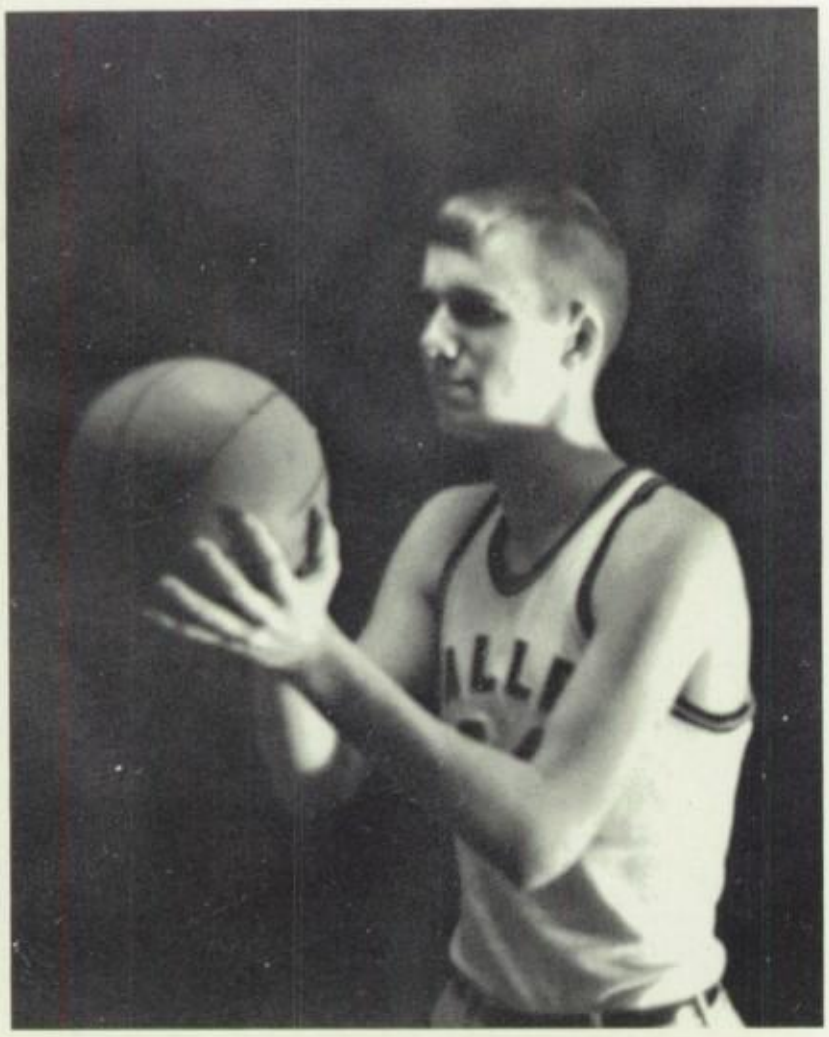
Tom Pearson, student body vice-president, participated in track, wrestling and basketball. He was a member of Student Council, Latin Club, Rocket Club, Key Club, band and chorus. Like others in this group, Tom was regularly named to the honor roll.

Jed Keller was annual photographer and president of Key Club. He was a member of Latin Club, band, chorus and Science Club and was an outstanding student.



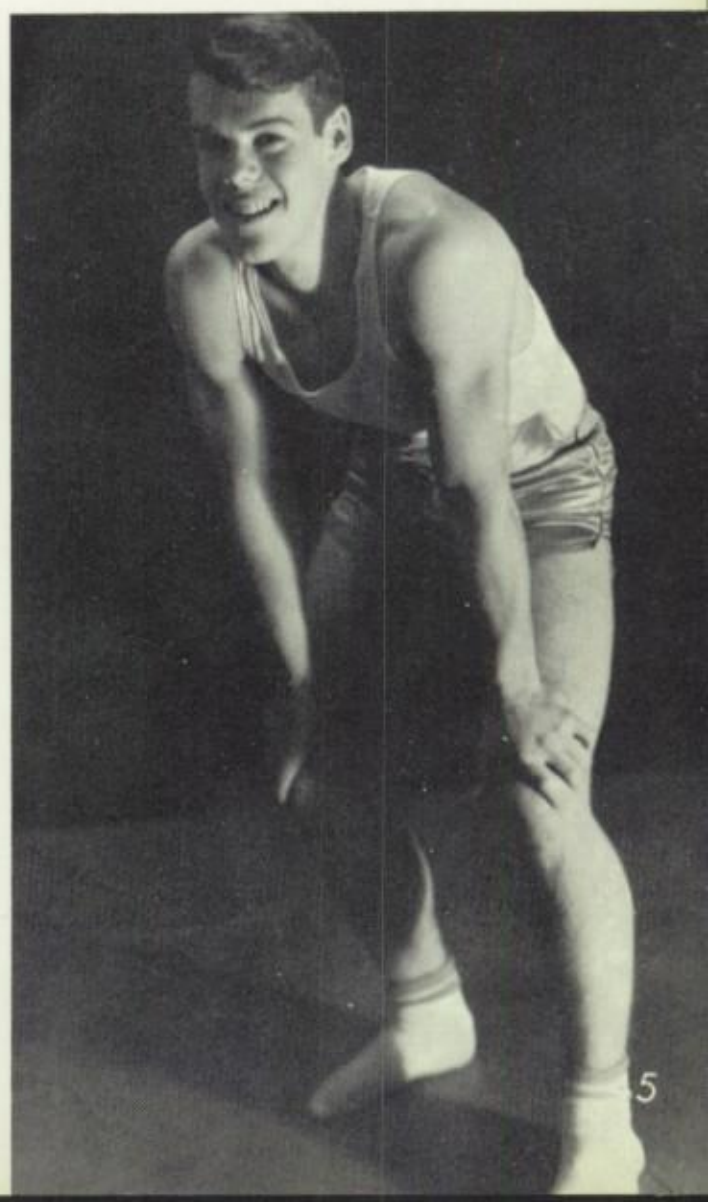
Debbie Barron has been a lettering basketball player, sports editor on the annual staff, a member of Student Council, Latin Club, Pep Club, the band auxiliary, chorus and an officer of TAC. Debbie also was an outstanding scholar.

As Outstanding



Dave Westphal lettered in basketball, and was active in Student Council, Latin Club, Key Club, TAC and band where he was president and drum major. He was a representative to the junior city council and a member of Quill and Scroll. Dave was also regularly on the honor roll.

Greg Jurkovic was president of TAC and participated in basketball while he has been a letter winner in track and baseball. Greg's name has also appeared regularly on the honor roll.



Officers Plan Year-End Activities

Tom Olson, Bob Azelton and Kirk Patrick were a few of the many Seniors selling "Go Valley" buttons to raise money for the Senior Class.

Colleen Concannon and Sue Simmons help the cap and gown representatives by taking the seniors' four dollars and recording each person's sizes.

The officers are, from left to right, Sue Simmons, Colleen Concannon, Mark Elstner and Dave King.

Last fall the Seniors voted for their class officers. Chosen by their classmates were Mark Elstner, president; Dave King, vice-president; Sue Simmons, secretary; and Colleen Concannon, treasurer. The officers were in charge of such duties as raising money for the Senior banquet and after-prom party, helping choose the style and color of caps and gowns and arranging committees for the selection of class color, flower and motto.

LIMELIGHT

Midwest Visits

Dressed in typical Japanese attire, Ruth Ann, her "father" and her "sisters" enjoy the beauty of a reflecting pool in their back yard.

Even Japan has its own Chinatown! Ruth Ann stands with her "sister" at the entrance to Yokahama's Chinese settlement.

Japanese students struggle with algebra just as we Americans do.

アニキス

Early last spring Ruth Ann Flanagan was delighted to learn that she had been selected as an AFS summer exchange student to Japan. After some brief instruction in Japanese, Ruth Ann left for Los Angeles in June where she met other exchange students participating in the program. From there she flew to Tokyo where she stayed in an inn with Japanese students who had been to America. Ruth Ann then met her Japanese family, the Masao Teroas, and their daughters, Junko, 20, Machiko, 15, and Miwako, 13.

During her stay Ruth Ann attended a girls' school where she studied science, math, geography, home economics, and oral, written, and classical Japanese. She also assisted in teaching conversational English and lectured to several groups.

While in Japan, Ruth Ann made numerous journeys to places of interest, such as a trip with her "family" to the foot of Mt. Fugi; a visit to the Imperial Palace; and a trip to Kamakura, the location of the "Great Buddha." All too quickly it was time to leave, and Ruth Ann returned to America sharing memories with other AFS students. Greeted by a welcome party at the Des Moines airport, she arrived weary from her travels but enriched by her experience abroad.

AFS Student Contributes

Ines is engrossed in the study of American History.

This year Valley was fortunate to have Ines Tissieres Ortiz from Piura, Peru, as its AFS student. Ines lived with the Edward S. LaGrave, Jr. family and had two "sisters," Kathy, a junior at Valley and Linda, who attended Northwestern University. Ines traveled from Peru to Miami, Florida by plane and then by bus with a group of other foreign exchange students to Des Moines, arriving the first day of school.

During her year at Valley Ines took modern problems, American History, speech, English and chorus. AFS, Spanish Club, Senior Tri-Hi-Y, Health Careers Club and Student Council rounded out her school life. She also was pianist for the concert band and appeared in several musical programs.

Memories of the many friends, the exciting experiences, the shopping expeditions, the football games and the strange American language will always remind Ines of her year at Valley. When she returned home, she completed her education with hopes of becoming an engineer.

Ines, a very talented and versatile musician, is an adept pianist.

Tearful and radiant, Queen Carole Nord is escorted off the field by Denny Reams.

Valley's alumni were honored once again during this fall's Homecoming activities. Spirited enthusiasm at the traditional bonfire began this year's celebration. Friday's pep assembly was highlighted by guest speaker Bill Reichardt, who emphasized the importance and power of school spirit. Also featured were faculty cheerleaders Mr. Cage, Coach Coldiron, Mrs. Douglass, Mr. Jensen, Miss Kirk and Mr. Steele, who led the student body in a special cheer. That night at the game with Valley's spirit soaring, the Tigers rallied over Osceola 28-6. The seven queen candidates had been nominated earlier in the week by the senior class and voted on by the student body. At half-time the Valley Band presented a special routine and the queen candidates were escorted onto the field. A hush fell over the tightly-packed stadium as the Queen was announced. "The 1965 Homecoming Queen is . . . Carole Nord." The dance at Phenix featured the theme "Indian Summer". With the tension of homecoming week relieved, the evening ended in laughter and happiness.

The Valentine birthday of this year's foreign exchange student, Ines Tissieres, provided the perfect setting for the annual AFS campaign. The week-long activities centered around the theme "Have a Warm Heart and Give Ines a Happy Birthday". A kick-off assembly featuring Ines and Valley's student to Japan, Ruth Ann Flanagan, began the week. Dave Elliott, president of AFS, announced that money would be raised through class competition. Each class selected a candidate and the class raising the most money per student would have its candidate reign as king at the dance with Ines. Jeff Stroud represented the sophomores; Danny Reeves, the juniors; and Dave King, the seniors. Campaign activities for the week included several open houses, a hootenanny and a variety program presenting Ines, students and teachers. Friday night concluded the activities with the AFS dance. Jeff Stroud was crowned king and the highlight of the evening came when it was announced that the goal of $1500 was reached and that two AFS students will be brought to Valley next year.

AYE Expands Foreign Exchange Program

Alicia Mirando from Buenos Aires, came to Valley under the American Youth Exchange program for a period of ten weeks. Alicia is seventeen and has graduated from her high school in Argentina. While at Valley, she enrolled in Spanish, typing, physical education and modern problems, which she enjoyed most of all. Alicia participated in AFS and Spanish Clubs at Valley. Her main interest is tennis and she is tennis champion of her country club at home.

During Alicia's stay here, she resided with senior Jean Elliott and her family. Jean also has participated in the program and as an AYE student spent ten weeks last summer in Santiago, Chile, with the Lautaro Ossandon family. American Youth Exchange is an exchange program between North and South America of students between the ages of fifteen and nineteen. Trips are financed by the participating individuals.

Valley High's baseball team did not pile up the wins comparable to past years, but it did display the qualities that have come to make baseball a great sport at Valley. With no seniors on the team this last year, the outlook for the next year is very favorable. The juniors, sophomores and even freshmen who played last summer will go into next year's season with much experience. Under the guidance of Coach Richardson the team should have one of its finest season's next year. One of the highlights of the season was Valley's win over Boone, who later went on to win the state crown. The team compiled a record of 11 wins and 9 losses and tied for second in the South Central Conference. The letter winners are: Don Abbott, Tom Athy, Dave Clark, Gary Havener, Dean Johnson, Greg Jurkovic, Denny Reames, Danny Reeves, Ken Shultz and Ron Tonelli.

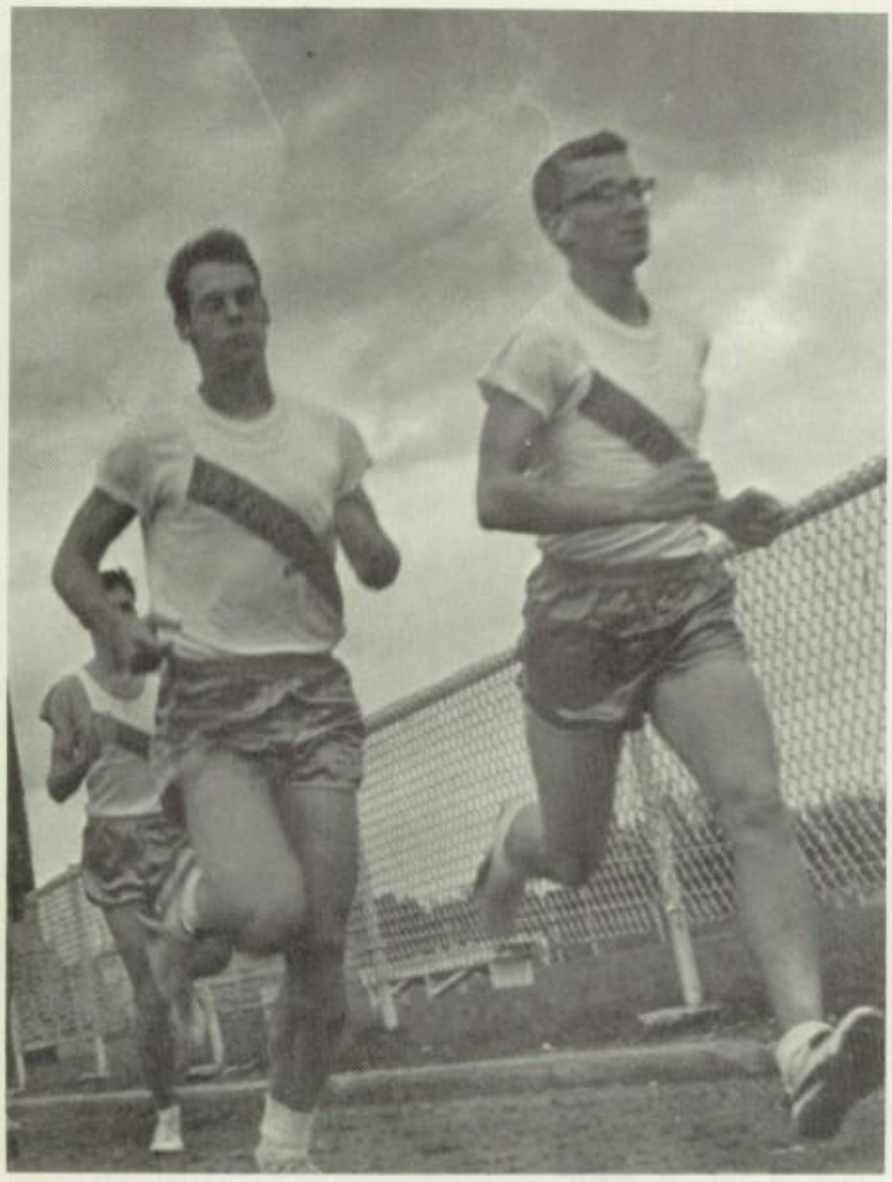
Fall Trackmen



Greg Jurkovic and Steve Griffith set the pace in the one mile team race.

This year's fall track team had great potential when everyone was running at his best, but the season had its ups and downs. The team broke even on their dual meets and placed fourth in the state mile team race, triple A division. They were out of the running in the cross country state meet, although Steve Griffith did place eighth in a fine field of state contestants. The cross country team finished sixth in the Mike Augustine Cross Country Run and eighth in the Class AAA state meet. They also finished fourth in the Class AAA One Mile Team Race. Boys receiving their third letters were Steve Griffith and Greg Jurkovic. Receiving their second letters were Cris Jones, Ken Shultz, and Dennis Morman. Winning their first letter were Doug Werner, Rick Field, Tom Pearson, Bob Overhulser, Rick Nelson, Mark Breneman and Steve Madsen.

This year the Valley Tigers had an unexpectedly successful football season. With only five lettermen returning from last year's squad, they accumulated a 6-3 record and were co-champions of the South Central Conference. The Tigers began the season by losing to Roosevelt 27-7, but they came back the next week with an invincible spirit and crushed the Pella Tulips 28-0. Highlighting a festive homecoming, the Tigers routed Osceola 29-6 and then rallied over Knoxville. The following win over Indianola by a score of 14-6 put the Tigers temporarily into first place until they lost a heart-breaker to Winterset. They came back with a win over Albia 42-12 and over Chariton 28-6. They ended the season by losing 20-0 to Dowling, one of the top-rated teams in the state.

Valley had four players on the All-Conference Team. They were Steve Shelley, Gary Sapp, Phil Sorensen and Alan McBride. Alan was also Metropolitan scoring leader with 84 points, and a member of the fourth All-State team. The football banquet was held at Stilwell gym in November. The main feature was a film of the senior players and the highlights of the football season which was narrated by Coach Elgin.

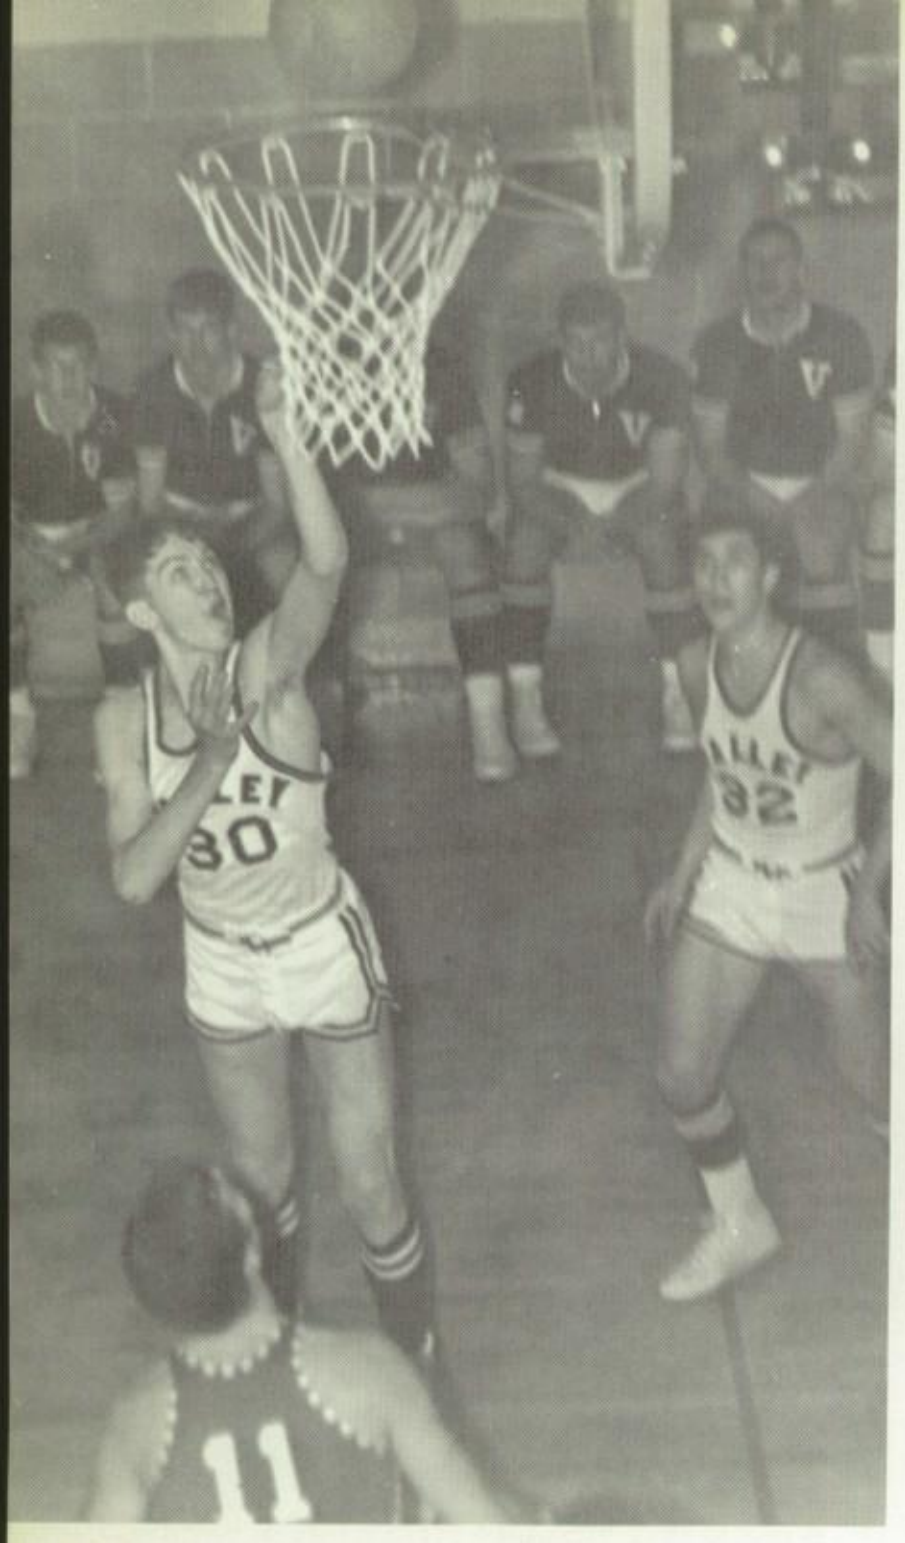
Tigers Capture First



Denny VanDerHorst fires in two more points for the Tigers.

This year, for the first time in Valley's history, the varsity boys' basketball squad won undisputed claim to the South Central Conference Championship. The Tigers also ended the season with the best record in twelve years, fourteen wins and four losses. From the very start, the Tigers proved to pre-season skeptics that they were an outstanding team by winning their first two conference games by a total of thirty-two points. After suffering a loss by one point to Knoxville, the Tigers rolled over Chariton, Winterset, Osceola and Albia. One of the season's highlights was a 55-53 upset victory over North. Valley finished the season by winning all games, except one loss to Albia after the conference crown had been cinched. In city competition the Tigers beat Lincoln while losing to Roosevelt and Tech, which gave them a 2-2 mark against city teams.

Balanced scoring was the key to the squad's success as Dave Westphal, Danny Reeves, Denny VanDerHorst and Todd Gfeller averaged in double figures. Mike Hoffman was a mainstay in the Tiger's pressing man-to-man defense. The offense was made more effective as the season progressed by using a fast-break. All five starters were honored with all-conference selections. Dave Westphal and Todd Gfeller were chosen for the first team; Denny VanDerHorst and Danny Reeves, second team; and Mike Hoffman received honorable mention.

Because the Tigers violated an Iowa High School Athletic Association rule in playing eighteen games, they were suspended from tournament play and were required to forfeit their first game to Southeast Polk.

Sophomores Finish Second in Conference

The Valley sophomores had a very fine season ending with a 9-6 record and placing second in the conference. They had a very successful city series record, losing only to the Roosevelt sophs. Jim Tiffany set a new scoring record by hitting 29 points in one game. The high scorer for the little Tigers was Don Abbott and Kurt Cole was outstanding on defense.

Jim Tiffany goes high to score two for the Valley sophomores as Kurt Cole awaits the rebound.

Despite the loss of eight regulars from last year's state runner-up squad, the Tigerettes finished the season with a fine 14-5 record. Three of their five losses came at the hands of teams rated in the top twenty.

The girls surprised many people by winning as many games as they did. After losing their first game, the Tigerettes came back strong to win nine of their next ten games. The season was highlighted by victories over North Polk, Guthrie Center and Osceola. For the first time, this season the Tigerettes played in the Christmas invitational tournament held at Redfield. The girls won the second place trophy.

The Tigerettes offensive unit was led by the fine scoring of Donna Hoy and the outstanding play of Sue Shultice and Diane Lappe. The guard court was sparked by the defensive work of Everlue Heard and Barb Urban and the rebounding of Debbie Barron.

Valley guards Linda Powell and Debbie Barron battle for rebound.

Reserves Compile Outstanding Record

The little Tigerettes had a successful campaign with a 9-2 record. The junior varsity lost their opening contest to Perry and their only other defeat was at the hands of Mount Ayr. The forward court averaged 48 points per game for the season, while the guards held their opponents to 35 points. Sophomore Denise Cooley paced the forwards with an average of 22 points. Judy Scurlock and Mary Alice Klein also were double-figure scorers with 12 and 13 point averages, respectively. Guard standouts were Marg Smith, Linda Powell, Debbie Estell, Margie Keller, Chris Sorensen, Jeanne Wickman and freshman Phyllis Layden.

The Valley High wrestlers enjoyed the most successful season in recent years. They finished with a 10-3 record and single-handedly captured the South Central Conference title. The matmen also earned another first when they defeated Urbandale.

Valley won the sectional tournament with 104 points; the closest opponent, Roosevelt, had 74 points. Valley had six sectional champions who were Mark Elliott, Rick Willadsen, Steve Koroch, Buzz Hoffman, Gregg Kreamer and Jeff Elgin. The four runners-up were Bill Barnard, Gary Sapp, Mike Harrison and Steve Shelley. Valley took fifth at the District Meet and had only one state qualifier, freshman Jeff Elgin who took second in the 145 pound weight class. Wrestlers winning their fourth letter were Steve Koroch and Rick Willadsen. Wrestlers receiving their third letter were Gregg Kreamer and Gary Sapp. Boys receiving their second letter were Mark Elliott, Buzz Hoffman, Dave King and Steve Shelley. Wrestlers that earned their first letter were Mark Allen, Roger Drake, Bill Barnard, Jeff Elgin, Bob Popple, Mike Harrison and Ron Tompkins. The managers were Ron Hallock and Mike Tilton.

Give Me

An important part of any athletic contest is the pep and enthusiasm displayed by the crowd. Valley's Varsity Cheerleaders have done a fine job of instilling school spirit into the student body. The cheerleaders devoted many long hours to painting signs and planning original pep assemblies.

Tumbling and Trampoline Teams Perfect Skills

Tumblers perform various individual stunts before an appreciative crowd.

Valley's trampoline and tumbling teams furnish an extra opportunity for those boys interested in further development of their skills. Coach Coldiron instructed both groups in early morning practices. Both teams performed expertly and provided excellent half-time entertainment at several basketball games.

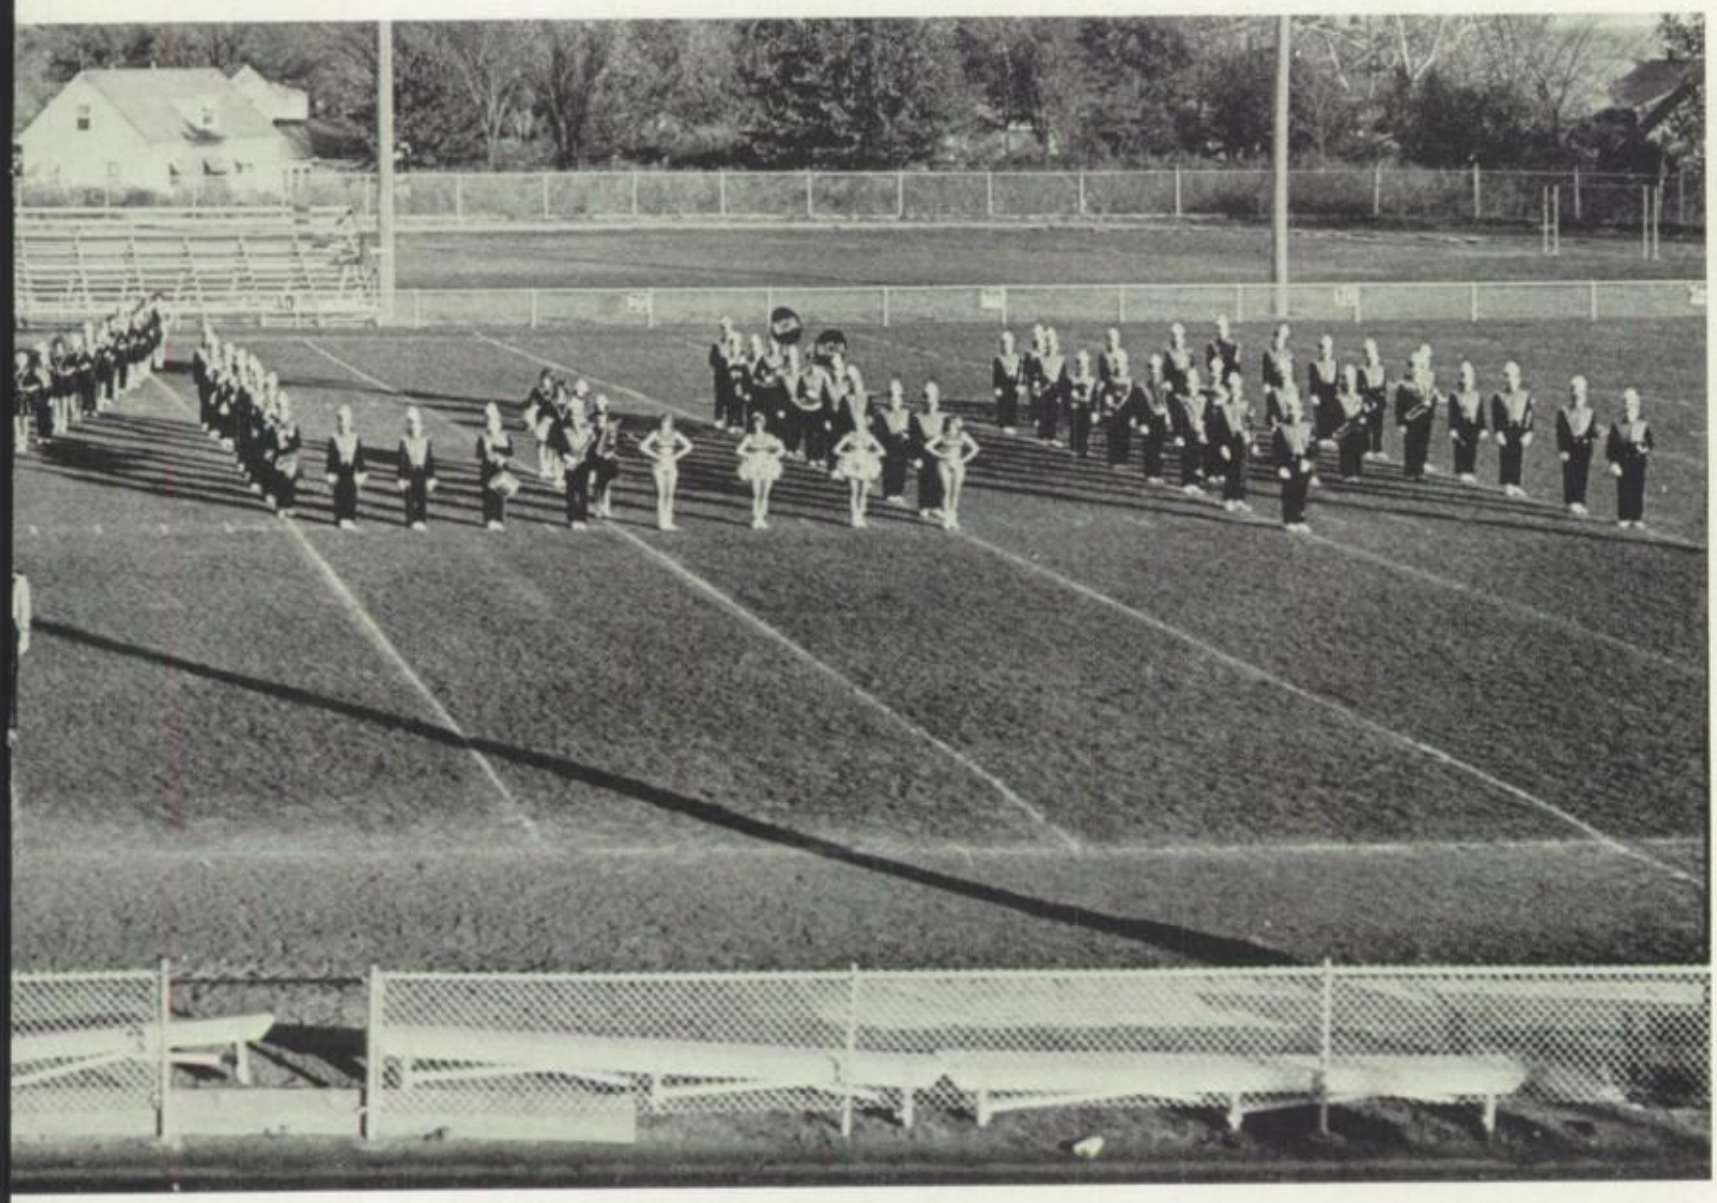
Earns Honors



The Valley High School March Masters began another active and successful season with a performance at a Des Moines Warrior football game at Sec Taylor Stadium. The soggy condition of the field provided a challenge to the band, but slipping through the mud the "band played on." The highlight of the season was a trip to Minneapolis. The band first marched in ISU's Band Day and then journeyed to Minnesota where they performed at a Viking pro-football game. The band won its well deserved fifth consecutive "I" rating in Shenandoah at the State Marching Contest. They also received first place at the Cedar Falls Band Day and performed at Valley's home football games. This spring the band marched at the Drake Relays, Veisha and Armed Forces Day parades.

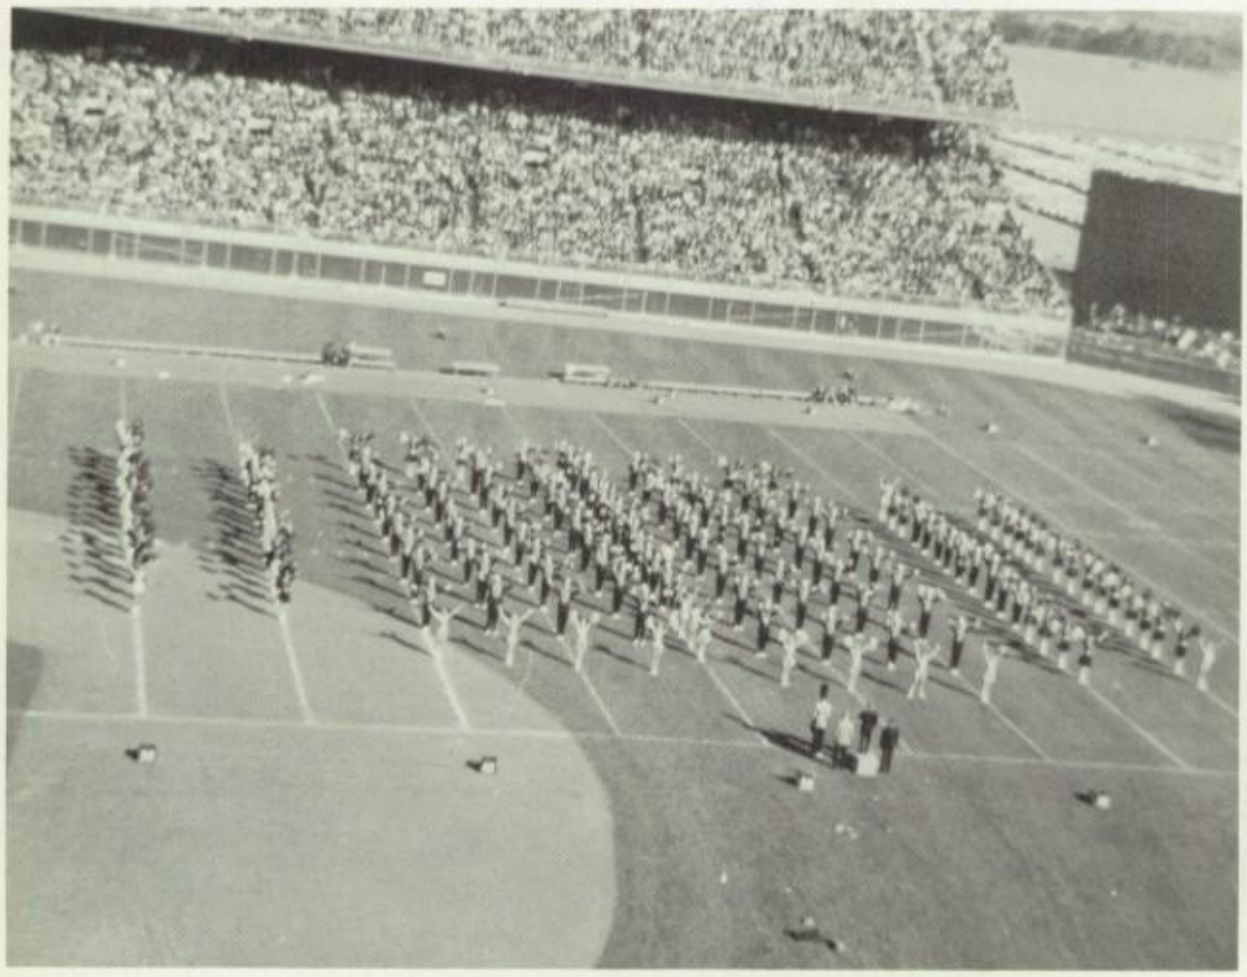
Minneapolis Trip Highlights Band Season



This is one of the many formations made during the half-time performance by the band at the Vikings—Lions game.

The highlight of the 1965 marching season was a trip to Minneapolis, Minnesota, where the band performed at the Vikings - Lions pro-football game. The Valley band left West Des Moines bright and early on Saturday, September 25 and traveled to Ames. There they participated in the Iowa State Band Day activities, which included a mass formation of several high school bands at the half-time during the Iowa State football game. Then they boarded the buses and headed for Minneapolis. The band arrived late that night and stayed at a Holiday Inn Motel. The next day they went to Metropolitan Stadium where they rehearsed their routine for the last time. During the Vikings - Lions game the band played the pregame and presented the half-time entertainment. After their performance, the weary but happy marchers returned to Valley and were met by enthusiastic supporters.

The Concert Band began its 1965-66 season with a "Pops" concert on Sunday, December 19 at Stilwell. The music consisted mainly of themes from various well-known movies. Concerts were also held in February and April. This spring the band entered the large group contest seeking its third consecutive division "I" rating.

The Valley Band Auxiliary is a girls' drill group that performs with the marching band at all times. They also appear alone at Fourth of July celebrations and are often featured in half-time performances. Sixteen of these girls comprise the Drill Elites, a more select group that performs at several home basketball games. This year they again marched at the Girls' State Basketball tournament.

The Valley Twirling Corps performs at many band activities throughout the year. In addition to pre-game and half-time performances at home football games, they participate in local, regional and state twirling contests, basketball half-time entertainment and various fall and spring parades.

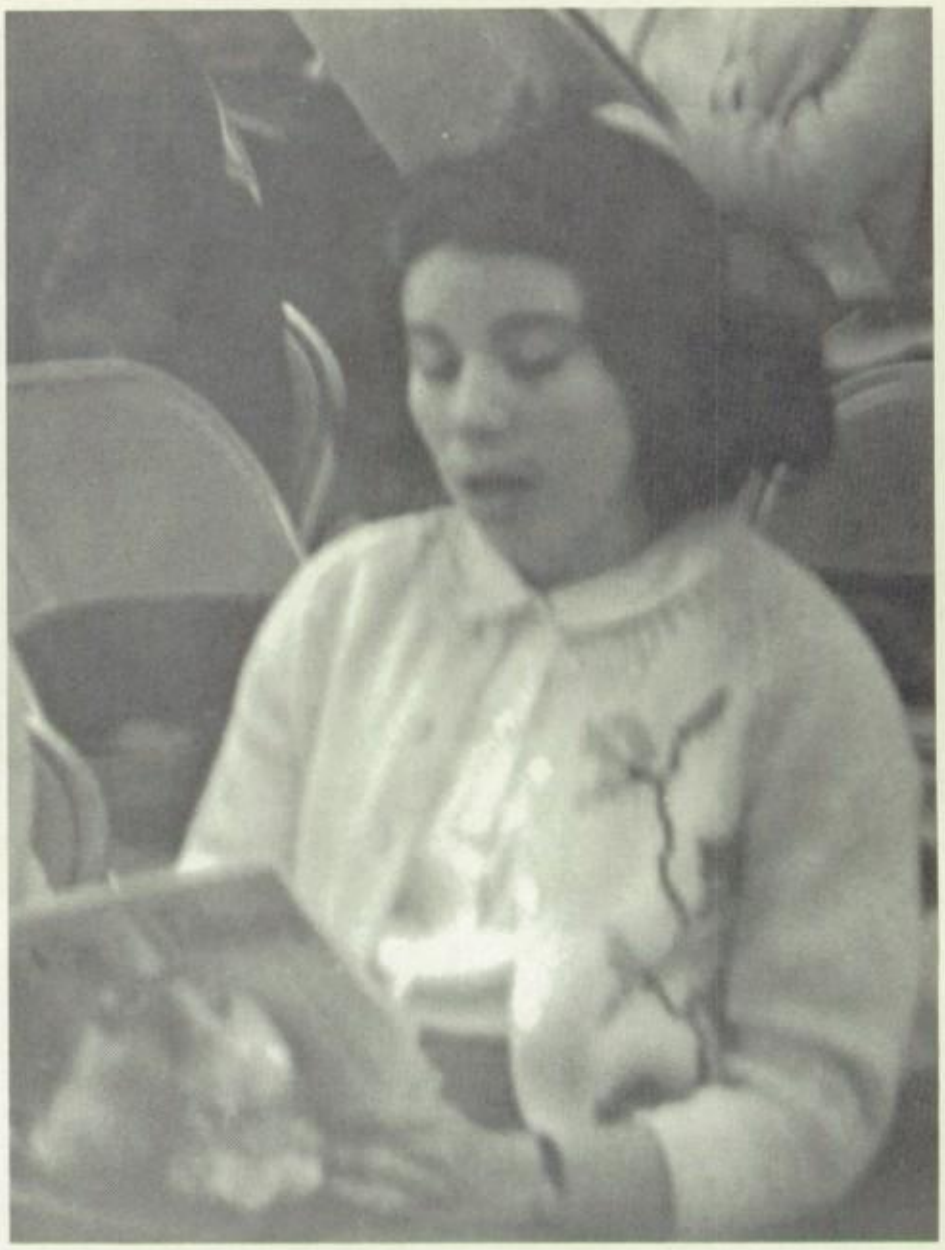
Enjoys Busy Schedule

Valley's vocal music groups, the a capella choir, and the girls' and boy's glee clubs were quite busy this year. The a capella choir began its season by singing at the music clinic held at the Kirkwood Hotel in September. They also were featured at the Christmas assembly and at the Polk County Choral Christmas Festival at Southeast Polk High School in January. They ended the year by performing for the Baccalaureate ceremony. The girls' glee club highlighted the Thanksgiving assembly, and the boys' glee club was featured at the Brotherhood assembly in February. All three groups performed in December and Spring concerts at Phenix and at the music contest where all groups have previously received Division "I" ratings.



Though English isn't as easy for Ines Tissieres as it is for the rest of us, she nevertheless enjoys singing in the chorus.

With the help of Dana Jackson the third hour chorus learns a new song.

Valley Singers Share Special Honors

Most eyes intently watch Mr. Steele as they work on their "ah's".

with All-State Chorus

Several members of the a capella choir were singled out for special recognition by being selected for the Valley Singers and All-State Chorus. The Valley Singers is composed of a small select group of boys and girls who perform regularly at community functions. The All-State Chorus is composed of quartets from throughout the state who are chosen in competition for the honor of singing with the chorus. Five quartets from Valley competed in this competition at Indianola, and from these, two quartets were chosen.

From the five quartets that competed from Valley, these two groups were selected for the All-State Chorus: Marty Rice, Mary VandeLune, Kara Florer, Mary Tyler, Nile Dusdieker, Bob Overhulser, Mark Elstner, and Wendell Kneller.

Although third hour is a time for singing, other occurrences, like cat naps, do take place.

The girls' glee club was greatly enlarged this year because of the elimination of a freshman chorus at Valley. The girls' glee club is an established group of girls who sing regularly at many school and public functions. They have also participated in the spring concerts and this year tried for their fourth consecutive Division "I" rating at large-group contest.

Boys' Glee Club Added to V.H.S.

This year the boys' glee club was added to VHS's vocal music department. The group consists of a small number of select boys who perform throughout the year. Although this is the first year for the boys' glee club, they have already sung at various assemblies, concerts and contests.

Though most students wouldn't think of entering a classroom after 3:10, the vocal music room seems to be a pretty popular place after school.

The newly-formed boys' glee club consisted of Ross Anderson, Pat Knight, Dave Elliot, Bob Clark, Mike Camacho. Second Row: Bob Bedford, Rick McMullin, Dave Anhorn, Jim MacMurry, and Carl Porter.

Tom Hunt (The Reverend Mr. Humphrey) finds it quite difficult to run, as ordered by Sergeant Towers (Jim Whittington).

Sandy Kirkman becomes the guinea pig for a make-up demonstration.

Enthusiastic Laughter

Valley's drama department began its year with half-clad clergymen, pandemonium and lots of laughter as Philip King's See How They Run appeared on the Phenix stage on October 23 and 25. The story involved an American actor and actress, a cockney maid who had seen too many American movies, and an old maid who "touches alcohol for the first time in her life". Also included are four men clothed as clergy, with one of them being an escaped prisoner. Viewed by a confused, sedate Bishop, they gallop through the four doors of an English vicarage trying to determine who is who.

The cast cowers as the Russian spy (Don Kagin) reveals his true identity and announces the oncoming revolution.

Rehearsals often included surprise entertainment such as Jeff Fox.

Dick Streitler (Colonel Clive Winton) gives Kathy McMullin (Ida) a romantic look into the future.

Debaters Capture

The debate teams spent this year exploring the subject "Resolved that the federal government adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in the settlement of labor-management disputes in the basic industries."

The year began with the inauguration of the Valley invitational tournament. Then the team participated in numerous inter-school debates and attended tournaments at Newton, Iowa City, Cedar Falls, Carroll Kuemper and Ames. The Iowa High School State Speech and Iowa Forensic League Speech contests in late February concluded the major competition of the year for the Valley debaters.

The four man debate squad of Nile Dusdieker, Nickie Test, Carol Egly and Cris VerPloeg won the first place trophy in the "A" division at Carroll Kuemper. In the Brindley tournament held at the State College of Iowa, Jeff Fox and Ron Evans, won awards for being the best two-man team in the tournament. The entire Valley Squad won fourth place in the sweepstakes of the Iowa State University Invitational, winning over forty-four other schools.

Valley's individual speakers also captured honors in the areas of oratory, extemporaneous and persuasive speaking. Nile Dusdieker placed second in original oratory at Iowa City in December; he also came in third in the finals at Ames. Bob Marks received fourth place in persuasive speaking at Ames. At the Newton tournament Sue Eide and Nickie Test placed high in the finals of extemporaneous and original oratory respectively.

It proved to be a very good and successful year for the Valley debaters, and they upheld a fine record of ability and potential.

The Drill-Elites, Valley's precision drill group, had another successful season this year under the direction of Mr. Kinney. They performed at three home basketball games and the Girls' State Basketball Tournament. Bringing back a touch of the "Roaring Twenties" they donned fringe skirts and enacted a modified version of the Varsity Drag in one of their routines. In other performances they demonstrated various marching and dance techniques, highlighted by the use of pom-poms. The sixteen members are chosen from the Valley band-auxiliary.

A new facet of the band-auxiliary was the Silver Belles. During the football season they marched with the band at all home games, state marching contest and several performances. At the final football game they presented a special Highland Fling routine. During the basketball season they performed with the Drill Elites at games and the Girls' State Basketball tournament. To raise money for their uniforms, they held a car wash and several bake sales. Pictured below are captain Debbie Denio, who helped organize the group, Jill Schlafer and Mary Ellen VandeLune. Not pictured is Sue Brown.

While playing the "William Tell Overture" (the Lone Ranger's theme), the band received a sudden surprise. Mike Wegner and Tom Pearson jumped up firing cap pistols like the Lone Ranger and Tonto.

The clarinet trio of Diane Lappe, Denise Cooley and Dave Bleakly gets in an extra group practice.

Small Groups Prepare for Contest

After Christmas vacation, the band members began practicing for solo and small group contests held April 1-2 at Stillwell Junior High in West Des Moines. The groups ranged from duets, trios and quartets to chairs of the various instruments. These groups of individuals played before judges who rated each performance with a "I" (superior), "II" (excellent) or "III" (average). Every other week each group practiced with Mr. Kinney and in between they practiced on their own whenever possible.

The flute quartet of Nile Dusdieker, Bernie Mathes, Jan Myers and Diana Montgomery practices under Nile's "expert" direction.

Council Practices

The Student Council, the central figure of Valley's government, consists of one person elected from each homeroom. Each representative reports the activities and procedures of the meetings and presents the students' opinions to the Council. The main objectives of the organization are to represent Valley as a school of high scholarship and citizenship, to encourage school loyalty, to stimulate academic and extracurricular activities, to encourage cooperative relations between administration, faculty and students, and to broaden the significance of democracy in school life. Following the traditional week of campaigning, the student body elected Kirk Patrick, president, and Tom Pearson, vice-president. Other officers of the Council were Colleen Concannon, recording secretary, Dave King, treasurer, and Jane Newberg, corresponding secretary. Mr. Jensen served as faculty advisor. The organization's main projects were Homecoming festivities and a Christmas dance. The Council also helped at the P.T.A. Open House and at the beginning of the school year at the orientation for new students.

One of the most important parts of school life is the publication of the Spotlight, which appears weekly in the West Des Moines Express. Sponsored by Miss Kirk and edited by Dave Westphal, the Spotlight has advanced in three years, according to high school journalism critics, from an average newspaper to a superior one. The basic policy of the staff is "to accurately and effectively serve as the spokesman of Valley High School." The publication provides interesting and entertaining information and stimulates critical thinking through editorials. The paper focuses on academics, activities, sports, clubs, fine arts and student life. Each week a person of outstanding or unusual character is featured "In the Spotlight". Besides devoting sixth hour each day, the staff also devotes several hours of work after school each week to Spotlight activities.

Color and Art Brighten

Diana Montgomery and Doug Lovejoy discuss plans for advertising in the '66 yearbook.

The Annual Staff devotes many long hours to the preparation of the Tiger Tales. Its main responsibilities are the collection of various information concerning sports, fine arts, academics, clubs, and student life; the taking, developing, and cropping of a countless number of pictures; and, most important, meeting the four deadlines. At each deadline, one-fourth of the entire copy must be sent to the publisher in order for the yearbook to arrive before the dismissal of school in the spring. Each section of the annual is headed by one editor. These various editors, under chief editor Nancy Nutt, compile their section which is proofread and typed by the copy editor. Additions and changes to the annual this year include spot color, more informal snapshots, and variety in the cover and division pages. The staff's new advisor this year was Miss Whitver.

One of the most important areas of the yearbook is the work of the photography staff. These devoted students spend countless hours both during and after school taking and developing pictures. From left to right: Tom Pearson, Steve Griffith, Jed Keller, Kirk Patrick, Colleen Concannon, Nile Dusdeiker, Tom Olson and Jon Jefferies.

Latin Club members celebrate Christmas in Roman tradition.

Latin Club, Senatus Populusque Romanus, is open to any Valley student who has completed one year of Latin. Serving as a very necessary supplement to the academic program, the club's main objectives are to encourage interest in Roman cultures and to promote an interest in Latin as a language. The club's officers, who organized the annual money-making project, are: president Barb Joss, vice-president Denny Merritt, secretary Bev Stires, treasurer Linda Staker and publicity chairman, June Walker. The organization also held a banquet in the spring following the Roman culture and customs and had a Christmas party.

International Understanding

Los Amigos, Valley's Spanish Club, consists of students who have completed at least one year of Spanish. Its purpose is to further the practice of Spanish and to familiarize the members with the customs, literature, arts and people of Spanish-speaking countries. This year the organization purchased silver lapel pins with the club name embossed on them. At the initiation of new members, Bob Carney played his guitar and spoke about his summer trip to Costa Rica. December's meeting was a Christmas party, and Ines Tissieres and Jean Elliot spoke on customs at Christmas in Latin American countries. The climax of the year's activities was a banquet under the direction of the new cabinet of officers.

FTA Members Student Teach

The Future Teachers Club, sponsored by Miss Kirk, explores the teaching profession. Regular meetings are held twice each month, and consist of panels, guest speakers or field trips. The basic project of the club is cadet teaching, a program in which junior and senior students may gain experience in actual teaching in the elementary and junior high schools. The student teachers devote from one to five hours a week to this program. Service projects, also an important part of the club, included a visit to the Children's Convalescent Home and sending books abroad for use by the Peace Corps. Field trips taken by the group this year included a visit to the Child Guidance Center and a tour of the Salisbury House. On the social level, the club held a Christmas potluck, entertained at a tea, and sponsored a Valentine Dance. Officers of the organization were: Sue Anderson, president; Dana Jackson, vice-president; Cathy Hockett, secretary; Ann Stainbrook, treasurer.

"To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of homemaking.

To further interest in home economics.

To work for the good of home and family life for all."

These are the basic goals of the Future Homemakers of America. Sponsored by Mrs. Kringle, the club's main activities this year were friendship kits sent to Viet Nam, a soc hop, a homemade candy sale, and a caroling party at Christmas. The group also made Valentines for a retirement home, held an annual style show, and attended a meeting at Iowa State University. Officers of the club were: Lucinda Reames, president; Donna Cain, vice-president; Linda Field, secretary; and Sue Birmingham, treasurer.

HCC Studies Medical Professions

Health Careers Club, sponsored by Mrs. Kalouner and Mrs. Glazebrook, is an organization for all students of Valley who have an interest in careers in the medical field. Officers of the club this year were: Janene Snelson, president; Kathy La Grave, vice-president; Sue Simmons, treasurer; Sue Schneider, secretary. At Christmas the group visited the Children's Convalescent Home and took presents, candy and cookies to the children. Throughout the year, the club visited hsopitals and nursing homes and heard guest speakers during their meetings. Members also displayed posters throughout the city urging the public to have X-rays for tuberculosis.

The American Field Service chapter at Valley is the organization which promotes inter-school relations in regard to the exchange program and sponsors the exchange student who is automatically an honored member of the club. Money for the following year's student is raised each year during the annual money-making drive. This year the organization heard speeches on South America by Ines Tissierres and Jean Elliot. Ruth Ann Flanagan also spoke on her trip to Japan. Several members of the club, sponsored by Mrs. Brenneman and Mrs. Elliot, attended AFS exchanges with East and Roosevelt high schools in Des Moines. The officers of the club are: Dave Elliot, president; Kathy LaGrave, vice-president; Ruth Ann Flanagan, secretary, and Pam Koch, treasurer.

Thespians Promote Drama at Valley

The chapter of the National Thespian Society at Valley is open to all students interested in drama. The purpose of the organization is to promote better drama in the secondary schools and to encourage the students' interest in it. The group, led by Shelley Taylor, began the year with its production of "See How They Run." Following this was an exchange program with the Roosevelt Thespians and a visit to the drama workshop at Drake. Other projects included several one-act and children's plays in the spring.

The Debate Club, one of the newer clubs at Valley, found this year quite rewarding. Their topic for debate was "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration for labor-management disputes in the basic industries." They initiated both a Valley debate tournament and the Debate Club Book Store, two new practices which thy hope will become traditions at Valley. The highlight of the year was the Iowa Forensic League Tournament in Iowa City during April. Early in the fall, Jeff Fox, vice-president of the group, tied as best speaker in a tournament at Cedar Falls, and Jeff and Ron Evans received the honor of best-man team. Officers of the club were Sue Eide, president; Jeff Fox, vice-president; and Nicki Test, secretary.

TAC Promotes Athletic Program

Tiger Athletic Club, reorganized last year by Mr. Coldiron, is an organization of winners of any athletic letter. The main purpose of the club is to unite all athletics of the school and to serve and better understand the athletic program at Valley. The club's main projects are ones of service and the highlight of the year was the Christmas Dance. The officers of the Club were: Greg Jurkovic, president; Steve Shelley, vice-president; Sue Holmes, secretary; Debbie Barron, treasurer.

Pep Club Adds Spark of Enthusiasm

The Pep Club at Valley is one of the most important organizations of the school, as its purpose is to promote school spirit and repprsent our school at athletic events. The club is also very helpful in assisting the cheerleaders make and post signs before all games. To raise money the group has sponsored bake sales during the noon hour. Officers of the club wwre Jaynee Franklin, president; Pat Jeffries, vice-president; Karen Long, secretary—treasurer.

Members of the Pep Club work after school painting posters for a girls' basketball game.

Drill Team Provides Half-Time Entertainment

One of the most entertaining groups at Valley is the drill team, which performs during the halftimes of basketball games. At the beginning of the year, this precision group purchased new uniforms by sponsoring several bake sales. Following try-outs in the fall, the girls held regular practices throughout the basketball season. The group performed at various other events during the year under the direction of Judy Grant, captain, and Carole Nord, co-captain.

Kiwanis Key Club Offers Services

Larry Archer and Steve Griffith operate the concession stand sponsored by the Key Club.

Kiwanis Key Club, a service organization at Valley, serves both school and community. In addition to offering scholarships, the group operates a daily concession stand in the lunchroom and sponsors soc hops to raise money for various organizations. This year they also remodeled the darkroom of the Spotlight and Annual staffs. On the local level, members took foster children to basketball and hockey games, gave money to a needy family at Christmas, and also sent packages to Vietnamese children. Several members, including this year's president, Jed Keller, attended the District Convention in Omaha this spring, and several also plan to represent Valley at the International Convention in Chicago during the summer.

The assistant librarians are also of great importance in serving Valley. Their main jobs are to check out and return books to their shelves, make new cards, file check-out cards, and generally assist the librarians in their duties.

Perhaps the most appreciated service group at Valley is the P. E. bus drivers. Chosen from the junior and senior classes, the boys must have taken driver's education and must pass both written and actual driving examinations. These boys devote their study halls to driving the girls' buses to the Phenix gym.

DECA Students Gain Work Experience

Sharon Williams demonstrates the type of work she experiences at Master Tape.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America are designed to promote future leaders for marketing and distribution. The students attend classes for one half the day and spend the other half working. Their training not only encourages vocational interests, but also prepares the student for a business future in college. The actual work experience extends the academic session and puts into practice the techniques learned in class. The group, directed by Mr. Kent, represents Valley in occupations of many types.

Art Club Assists in Decorating

Art Club is an organization for students who are presently enrolled in an art class. Their main goals are to aid the teachers in designing bulletin board displays, to improve the Tiger head and Valley crest, to make posters for organizations and their activities, and to promote individual projects. Sponsored by Mrs. Hein, officers of the club this year were: Dave Williams, president; Nanci Soppeland, vice-president; Diane Andreason, secretary; Karen Baker, treasurer.

Rocket Club Shoots the Moon

For the first year, Valley has organized a Rocket Club under the sponsorship of Mr. Halstead. The purpose of the group is to build and launch model rockets. The rockets, ordered from Estes, Inc., are assembled by members of the club. Projects included the launchings of a mouse, a camera and radio transmitters.

The training of a mind is an exciting, lifetime adventure. The mind may be taught, or it may be self-trained. But, no matter the method used, an education is never finished. If serving your fellow man through work in the business world seems challenging to you, we hope you will come see us when your school days are over.

YOUNKERS

"Satisfaction Always"

Carla Vioglavich Mark Elstner Celeste Harshfield

Each year YOUNKERS offers a program for teenagers from the Des Moines area high schools—TEEN BOARD, for junior and senior girls, and BOYS ADVISORY BOARD for senior boys. The young people selected to represent their respective schools are chosen for their leadership qualities, high scholastic standing, personal recommendations from the school advisors and fellow members of Teen Board, plus their interest and ability in retail and fashion. They participate in several special fashion shows during the year, give talks in their school and to other groups on good grooming, publish a monthly newsletter and work in various departments each Saturday. YOUNKERS salutes the representatives from Valley High School for a job well done. You're the Greatest!

There is a book into which some of us are happily led to look, and to look again, and never tire of looking. It is the Book of Man. You may open that book whenever and wherever you find another human voice to answer yours, and another human hand to take in you own.

Walter Besant

Sue,
I don't know what I would have done without you in English, keeping me awake, and fastening my dress for me!
You are a real doll so don't change
Hope to see you around next year! Love ya,
Ann

Sue
It's really been fun this year in P.C., You're really a riot and I know I'll never forget a minute of it. Good luck wherever you go.
Love
Carole K.

Sue —
Well, we're done now. It makes me feel so sad to sign annuals.

Sue.
I really don't know what to say.
You are really a sweet girl and I wish we could have been the kind of friends we started at the beginning

Sue,
I'm one of the swellest girls I have ever known!
You've got a great personality, don't ever lose it. Good luck always in the future. Be Good and have fun
next year!

Sue,
It's been fun this year
knowing you in Mod.
Prob. and Going to lunch together and every day. You're a darling girl with a cool personality, and I hope you get everything out of life that you want. Good luck always and may God bless you.

Sue,

To one of the sweetest girls I've ever known. I'm really glad I got to know you better in English. I sincerely wish you all the luck in the world and a bit more happiness for the future.

Love
Sherry

Dear Sue,
I'm really glad I got to know you better this year. I enjoyed knowing you very much. This year I'm glad to have had so many good times with you. Oh boy I'm glad I'm here. I'm sure going to miss you all this summer. I hope getting out of here, & sure maybe we can have fun this summer. Best of luck to each other this summer. Be good.
Love
